Mrs. Morton, Thanks for making Biology an enjoyable subject and not all busywork and bore. Mr. Pruitt didn't do much for the improvement of my interest but fortunately you were around to salvage my understanding. Good luck next year as Sponsor next year - I finally know how much work is involved. Remember our "Ode to a dead Toad";

This been a great year. I've had a lot of fun when I was in your class and I know I've learned more than I realize. I've always had fun in both of your fine classes, Bio I & II. Love, Jim

Mrs. Morton,

The course this year has been an excellent preparation for college Bio. If we appeared not to interested at times chalk it up as being typical of students. I have learned more Biology this year than I thought I would... and it's been fun.

Exited cries tumbled from the stands at the football games
Often followed by people. .
Flushed faces reveled in the triumph of victory or the sting of defeat.
Then off to celebrate at an after game sock hop.
These experiences comprised the enchantment of Woodson.

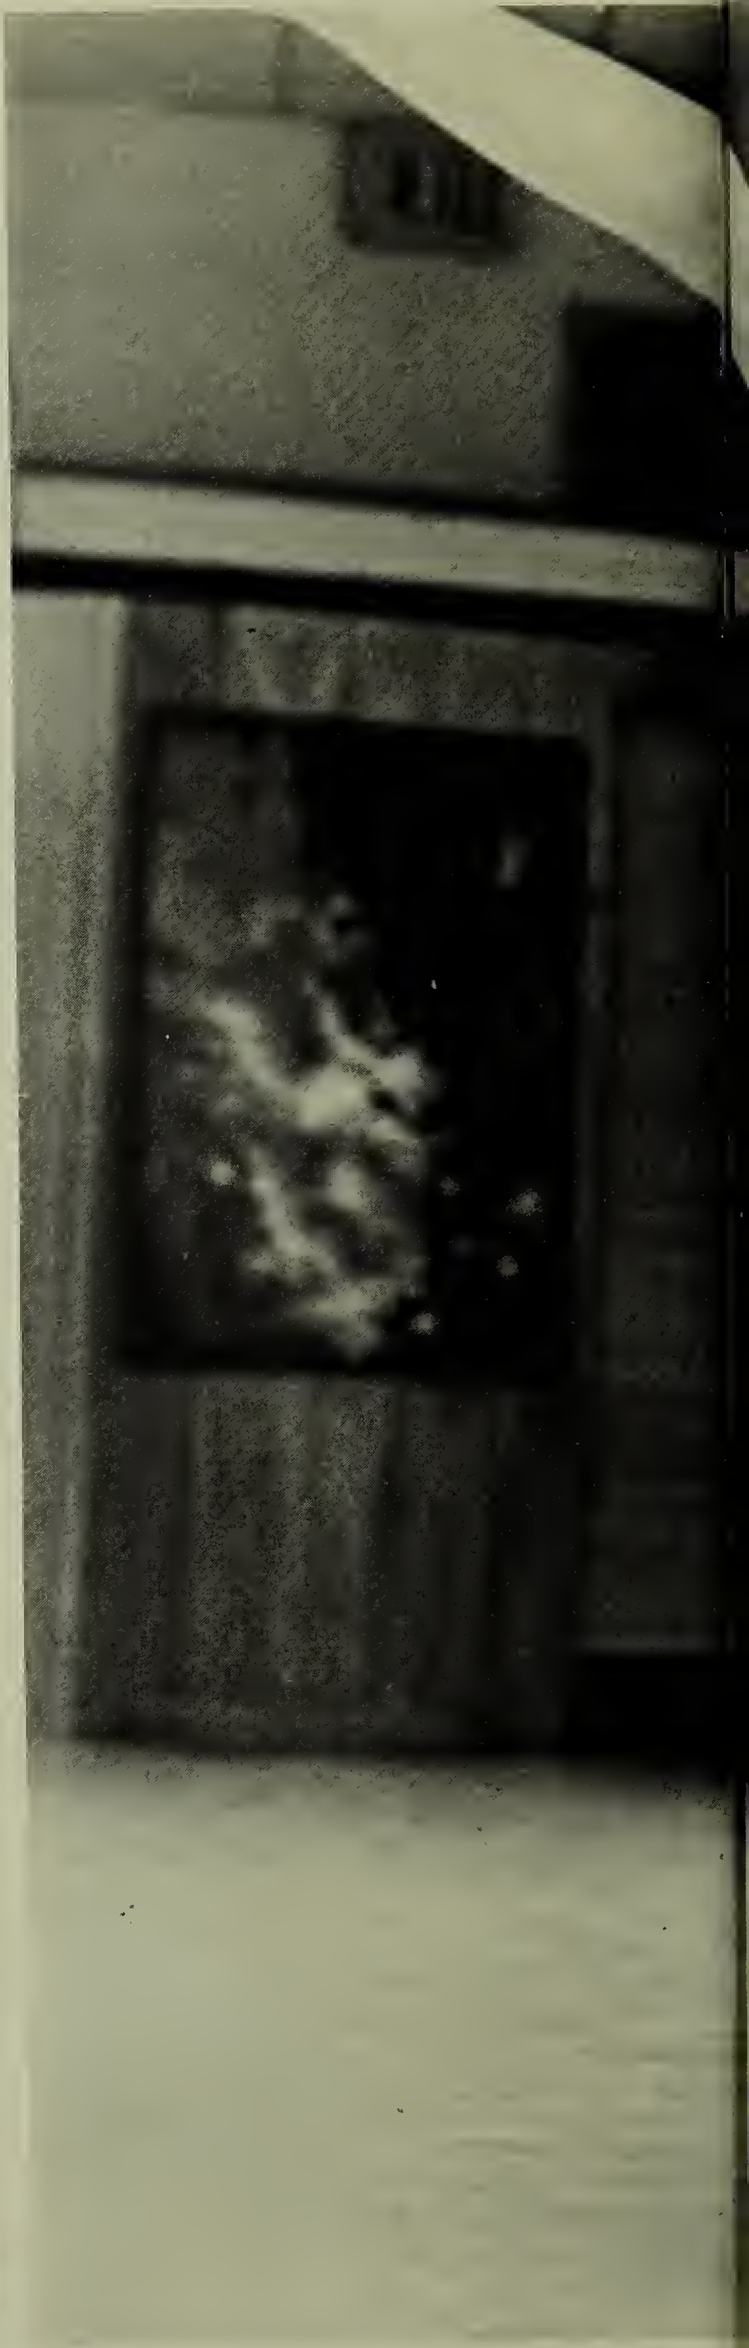
CONCLUSION 334

The blood-curdling squeak of chalk on the blackboard
The grinding of teeth as the teacher announced cheerfully that five people passed the test
The thud as the school's football hero collided with you in the hall
The door slammed in your face — ten seconds after the late bell
Chipping your tooth on a piece of cake at lunch
Knowing teachers who care
Getting your name taken off the role in study hall
Finally understanding the math homework
Suddenly being able to recite Spanish in class
Every Day an experience to be lived, not endured.



The tearing of hair over a major decision—To skip or not to skip?
In the interests of mercy—shouldn't taking home the interim be delayed?
If buying a ticket to the football game means no paper for a month, is it worth it?
Will she collect the homework 5th period?
Miss an important meeting to avoid walking home in the rain?
Woodsonites searched their souls for the answers.

I'm really sorry I've been such a humongous
headache this year .. but you know what they say: ¡que sera, sera!
Seriously though.. all summer I tossed & turned in my sleep and after woke up screaming how I didn't want to torture poor innocent frogs... but I was wrong.. I've really enjoyed Biology class, I've had a great time and learned more than any other science class I've had so far.. and as it turns out..
I LIKE ~~torturing~~ poor innoce

the class of

The flurry of last minute homework in homeroom
The prospect of an assembly with its promise of shortened periods
The joy of an unexpected substitute
The blissful suprise of a reprieve on the undone grammar exercise
The challenge of a stimulating discussion
The ecstasy of finally getting the locker unjammed
Missing half of math for a bomb scare — in the rain
An early closing on a spring day
Getting out of practice in time for the late bus
A walk home with a friend
Everyday held happiness.

HAZARDOUS AND POLLUTED WATERS
NO SWIMMING OR WADING
UNAUTHORIZED FIRES PROHIBITED IN THIS AREA

Childhood gone forever. The pacesetter of the school. An image to be protected. College beckoned from the hazy future, but the present dominated every action. The class ring, no longer merely a pretty novelty, became a constant reminder of rank and obligation. The gay unconscious frivolity of the freshman, the proud officiousness of the sophomore, and the busy uselessness of the junior were transformed into dim nostalgia. But the Senior Year with its honors and disasters retains its identity.

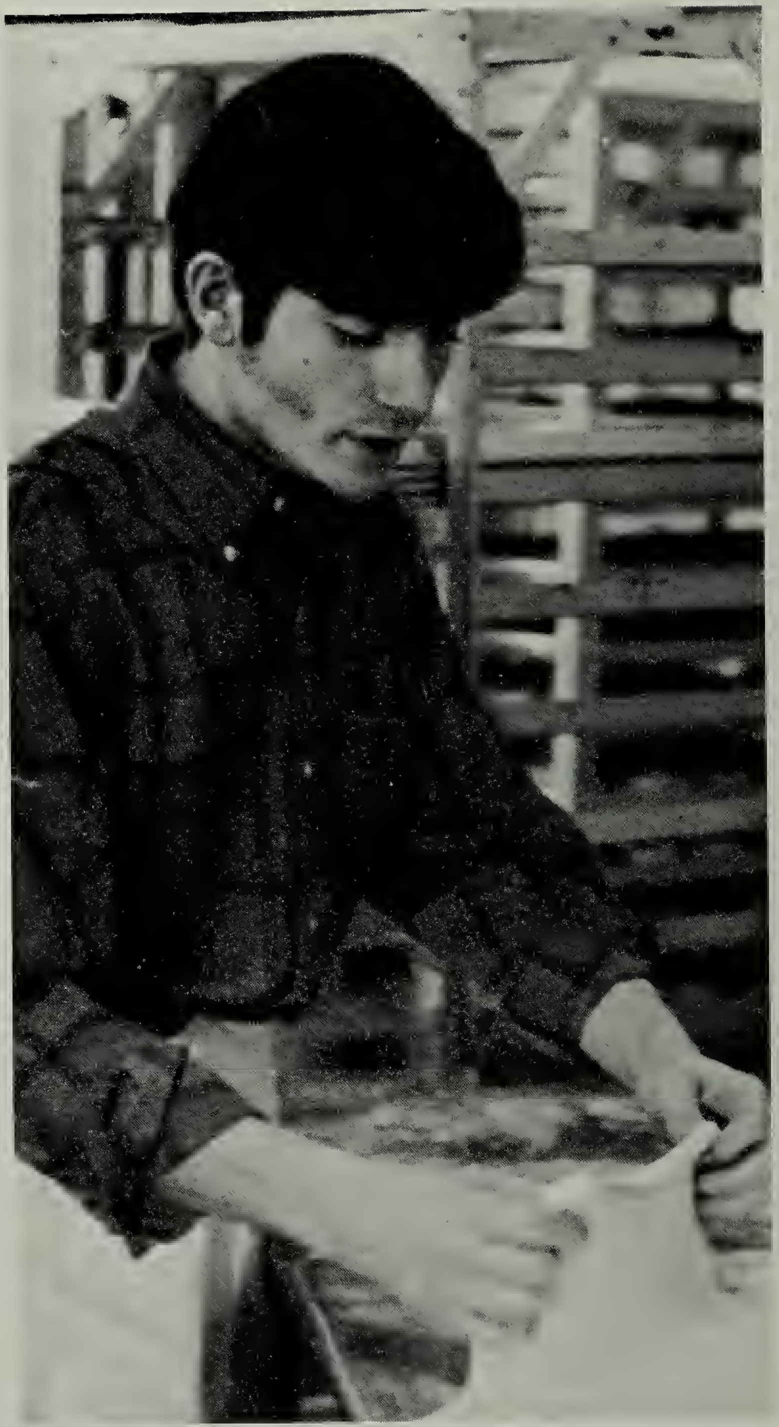
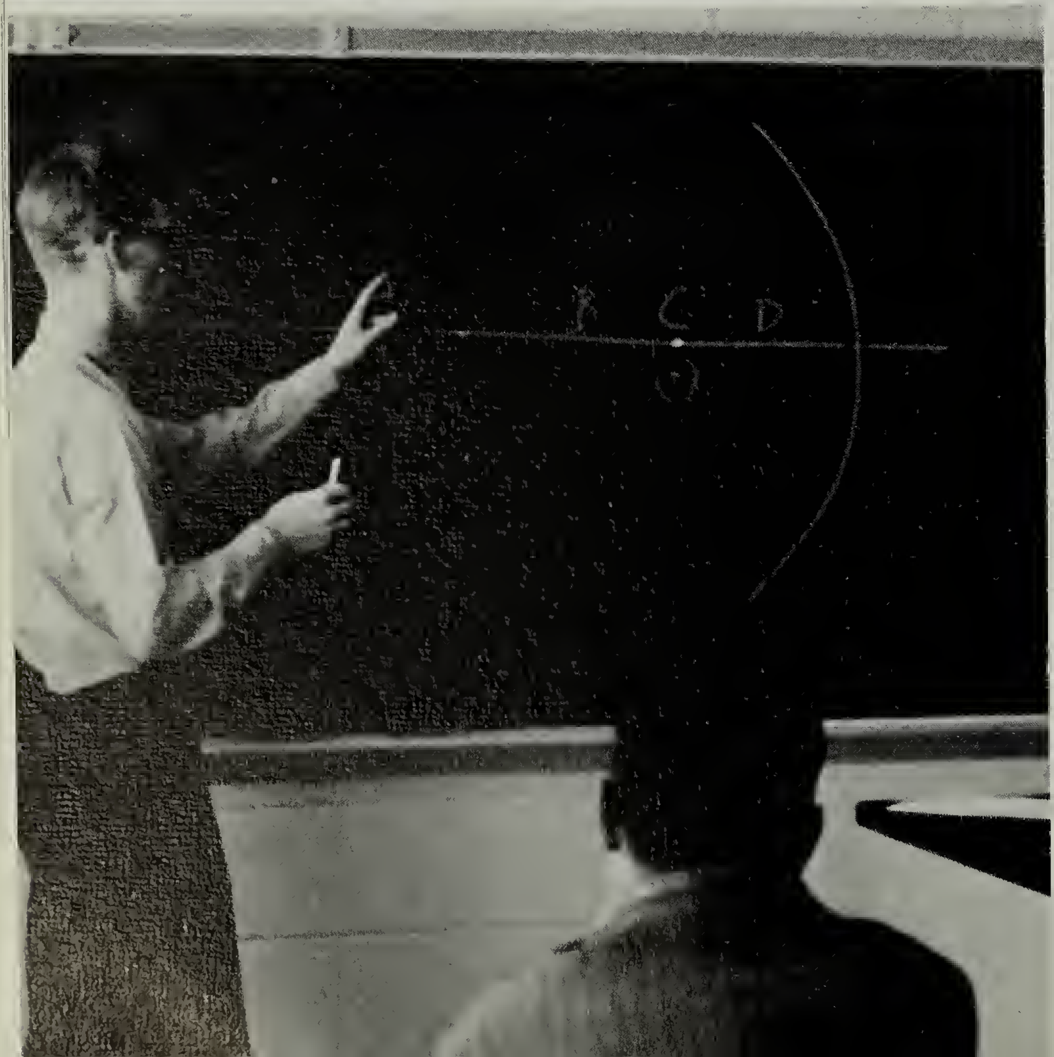
Santa Claus, Kathy Lockwood brightens up the physical education department with a Christmas tree and gifts for everyone.



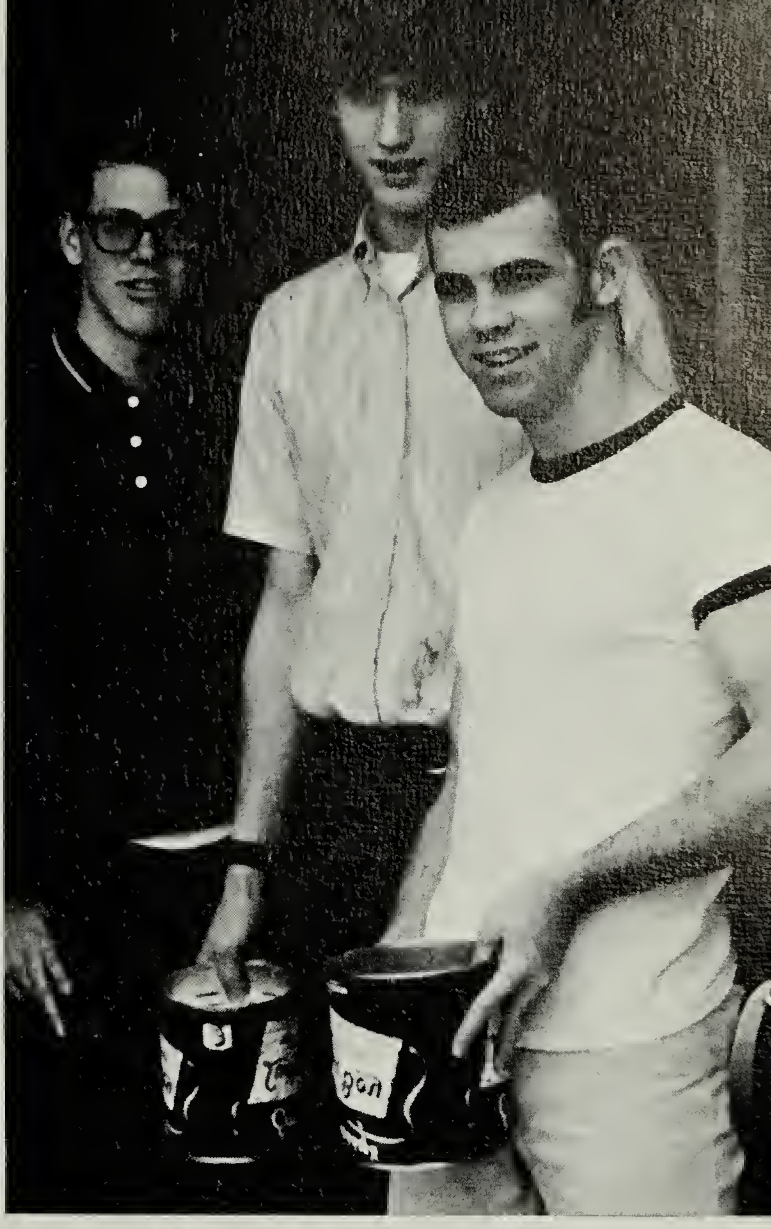


Woodson's answer to Chef Boy-ar-dee, Glenn Green shapes the Friday pizza while on cafeteria duty during Student Administration Day.

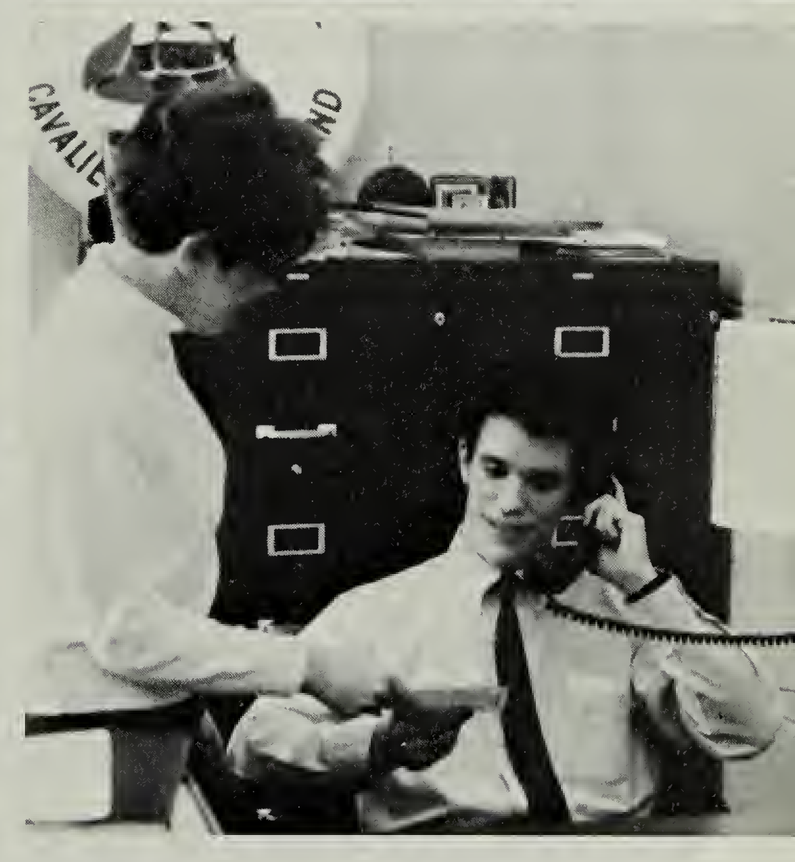
Temporary faculty member, Ray Barbour finds it difficult to get tough with a troublesome Tom Warren on Student Administration Day.

While Jack Woodside struggles to lecture on the foci of a parabolic mirror, these students can not believe that someone without a bow tie can teach physics.

George Moser and Frank Dukes, posing as Mr. Ladson, conduct the Parent Conference on Student Administration Day. Members of the Senior Class took over the positions of the faculty, administrative personnel, cafeteria staff, and custodians.

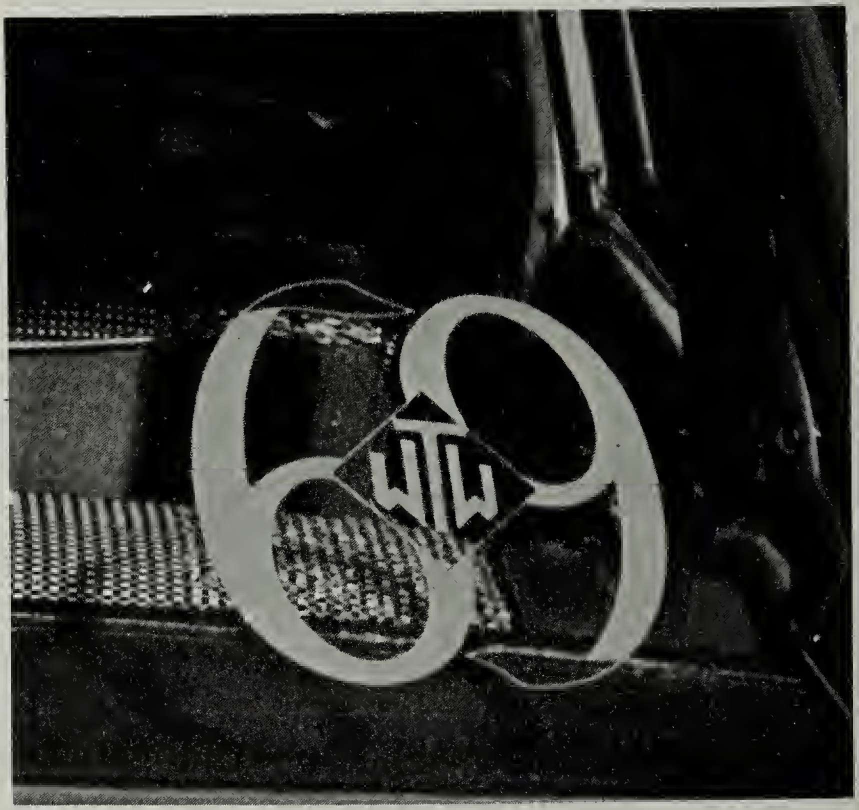


Regis Carr, Dan Raven, and John Rhea take time out from their rigorous custodial duties to pose and smile for the camera. The boys labored steadfastly sweeping halls and shining lockers. When asked if they'd ever do it again, Regis smiled slowly and replied, "Never."

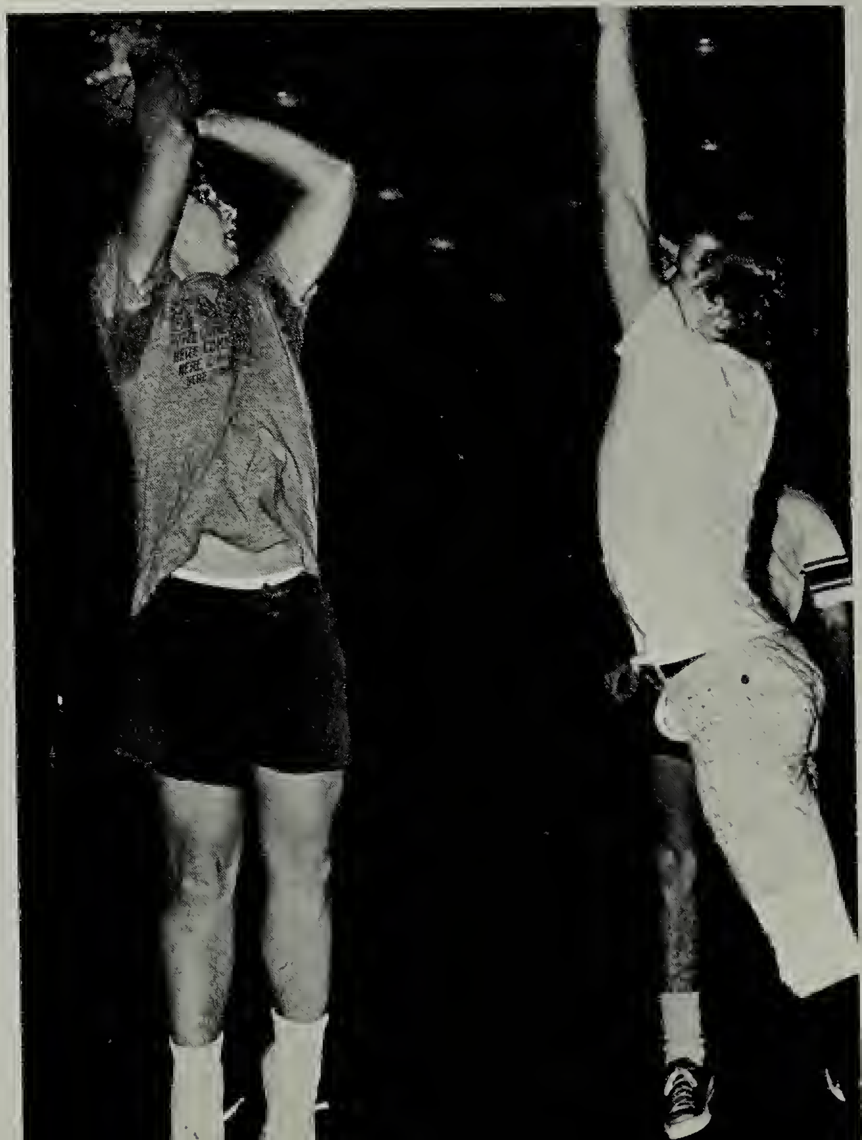


Jim Powers, posing as Mr. Lawrence, takes a moment for a telephone chat only to be interrupted by Linda Cambell and a smiling message.

Senior Class Councilmen: Detta Arico, Chris Vic, Kathy Milillo, Jim Long, Debby Kenny, Richard Baumgarten, Steve Hoadley, and Patti Sinnett.



Seniors revealed their new found status as "69" decals appeared: wrinkled, crooked but proud during the first days of school.



Despite magnificent efforts, such as this leap shot by Senior Jim Burress, the Juniors defeated the upperclassman by a narrow margin.

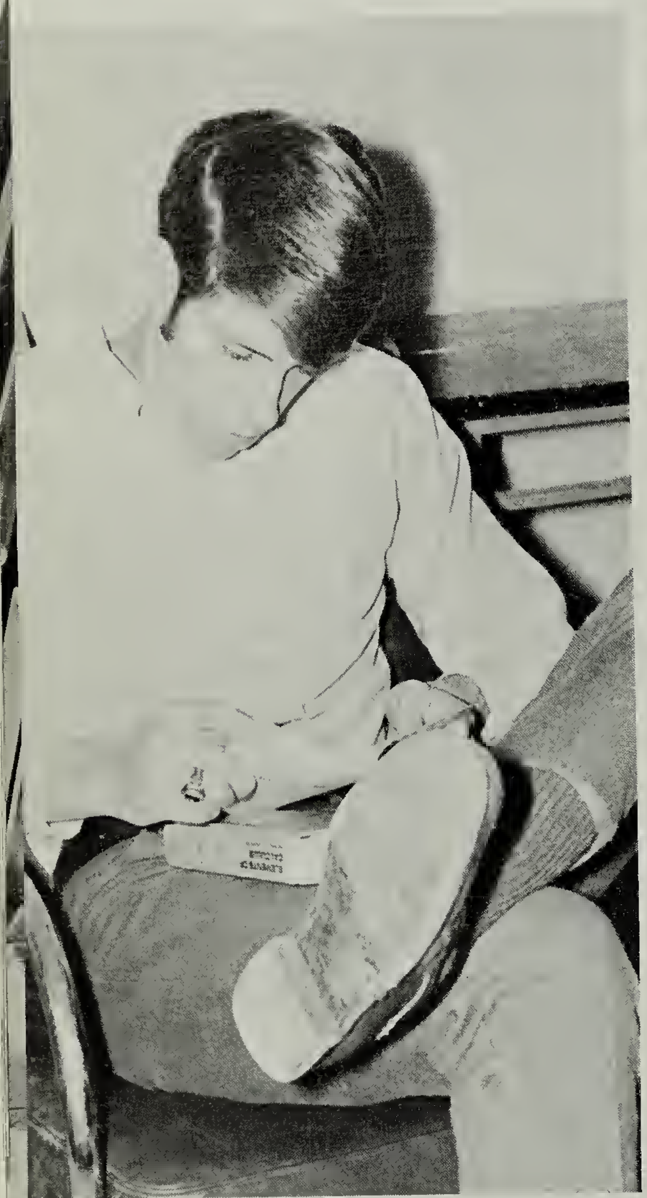
The Senior office in all its cluttered grandeur provided a haven and sanctuary for studying and talkative seniors. Bill Hayes finds Petra Wende's shorthand mildly interesting but entirely incomprehensible.

The Senior of the Week showcase became a Woodson fixture illustrating Senior concern for class identity. Each week pictures of two select Seniors appeared behind the glass, accompanied with a biography to herald the singularity of the Senior Class.

Vernon Gardner has discovered true comfort in W.T.W.'s cafeteria chairs. Here Vernon stretches across three for his usual catnap during study hall.



The Senior Office offers a repose for the recluse as Bruce Johnson takes the opportunity to do some reading.

Karen Talley, Dora Holmes, and Donna Teagle line up for the clean sweep across the parking lot. Members of the new Tri-Hi-Y burnished their brooms and contributed toward the comendable although impossible goal of a glass free parking lot.

CAUTION
DON'T TAKE LIFE TOO SERIOUSLY YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GET OUT OF IT ALIVE
MURDER'S SO MESSY! WOULDN'T YOU RATHER CUT ME UP WITH ME UP

Terri Kacena and Dottie Boulter stand beside their creation, an example of a prevalent Woodson art form; the super decorated locker.

Smiling, Donna Hickling warmly receives Mr. Lina's congratulations and her Merit Scholarship letter of commendation, as Richard Baumgarten looks on smartly.

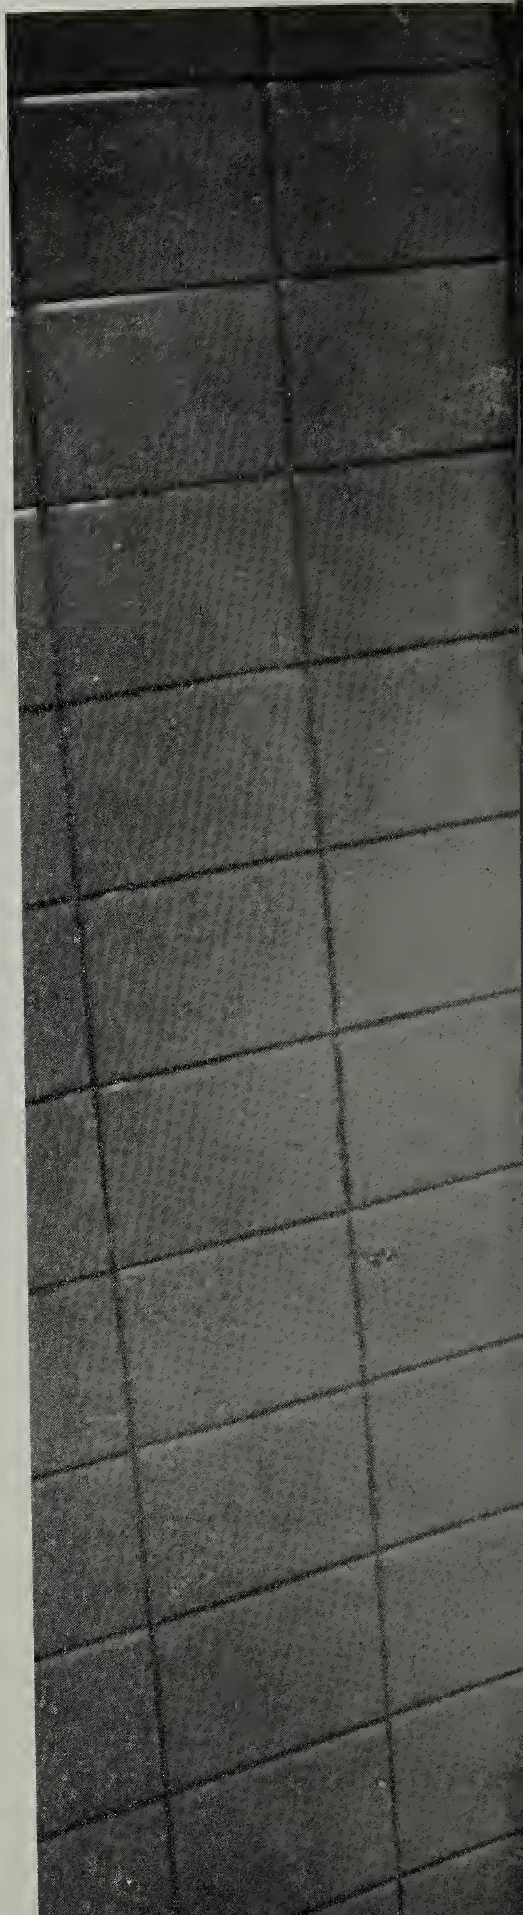
Jack Armstrong demonstrates to Charlie Harrison one of the more involved dance steps of the play's prologue.

With Dana Matthews lying dead before her, Susan Lane passoniately denounces the misunderstandings that resulted in her lover's death.

Rockettes they are not; however, the many practice sessions such as this one change, Bill Hayes, Bill Rippey, Glenn Green, Steve Hoadley, and Dave Hill into skillful dancers.

Informal rehearsals shaped enthusiastic Senior girls into a precision unit. The varied "West Side Story" dance routines were the result of the collaberation of Marlie Siebert, Trish Kenney and Mrs. Jones.

Dayna Matthews and Susan Lane, filling the lead roles in an unusually skilled Senior Class play, smile in a rehearsal of the balconey scene of West Side Story.



Reaching out eagerly to grasp responsibilities,
though fearing their weight Anticipation of the future overshadowing the agony of fading memories
Preoccupation with personalities to be met at jobs and colleges,
Forgetting, for a time, those who are vanishing now.
The whirl of fun, make believe work, and the security of the home disappear as the Senior, prepared by the growth of mind and body, turns to face the world.

Business

Typing diligently, striving to attain that cherished 40 words per minute that would insure a government job, or frenziedly jotting down shorthand and perplexedly trying to comprehend it afterwards, Business Education students worked to achieve the skill necessary to become independent.

Lesser known aspects of Business Education were explored by Data Processing, Bookkeeping, Accounting and Business Law students.

Home Economics Industrial Arts

No matter what her future holds, a girl will have to live with herself. Cooking, sewing, and handling a budget are a few of the helpful hints the Home Economics department imparts to its pupils.

No matter what his future holds, a guy will have to tinker sometime. The idiosyncracies of power tools, the oddities of the internal combustion engine, the ways of wood and metal, and the shocking details of electronics become invaluable knowledge to the Industrial Arts student.

The Industrial Co-operative Training program involves the Woodson student who wishes to learn a technical skill, learn it well, and be introduced to employers eager to utilize his talent. These students become acquanted with the techniques that make a business efficient and themselves popular employees.

A refrigerator is like a human body. It has intricate and fallible inside cupboards. The healing of the many diseases of these temperamental machines requires understanding, patience, and the knowledge that comes from study at the Woodson Refrigerator Repair Shop. Equally as dedicated to healing and serving are those who participate in the Practical Nursing Course. Learning to comfort the sick and to get their motors purring once more is the goal of these students. In Auto Shop, boys become acquainted with those great mechanical marvels of the twentieth century. The strange ways of wood and the power tools are explored in the carpentry course which helps to fill the indispensable yet waning ranks of carpenters in our fair land. Thus in these courses, combined with Cosmetology, and Electronics, complex hands are trained to repair, assist, and create.

The Junior. Unique. Unpredictable. Authoritative but not yet omnipotent. Possessing the privileges of rank, but not yet facing the awesome dilemma of college.

The one with crutches after the ski trip.
The actor who scraped tomatoes off the stage after Junior Jollies.
The more valiant players in the Junior-Senior basketball game.
The one who bears the unaccustomed weight of his new class ring.
The underupperclassman with the memories of an unprecedented school year.

In an effort to make student balloting legitimate, voter registration was held before each election. This emulation of national election procedures cut down on the number of votes cast, but at the same time made the privilege of voting the responsibility of the individual.

Student Life

Ambitious freshmen swarm in a maze of endless halls

Lisa Lund searches desperately for her newly assigned locker. It's just gotta be down there; this is the only place left to look.

Only a shaft of sunlight violated the soft dusk that filled the empty halls. Dust rested lightly atop unused desks. Bulletin boards stared blankly down quiet corridors. An air of lonely solitude pervaded the building. The calm before the storm.

September 3. Invasion Day. A slight vibration disturbed the silence. A shadow crossed the threshold, followed by another, and another . . . a trickle . . . a torrent. Bodies poured through every door. A wave of pandemonium crashed into the crowded corridors trying to force back the determined throng. Sudden schedule changes, unexpected bells, stubborn lockers, and erupting water fountains harried the bemuddled scholars.

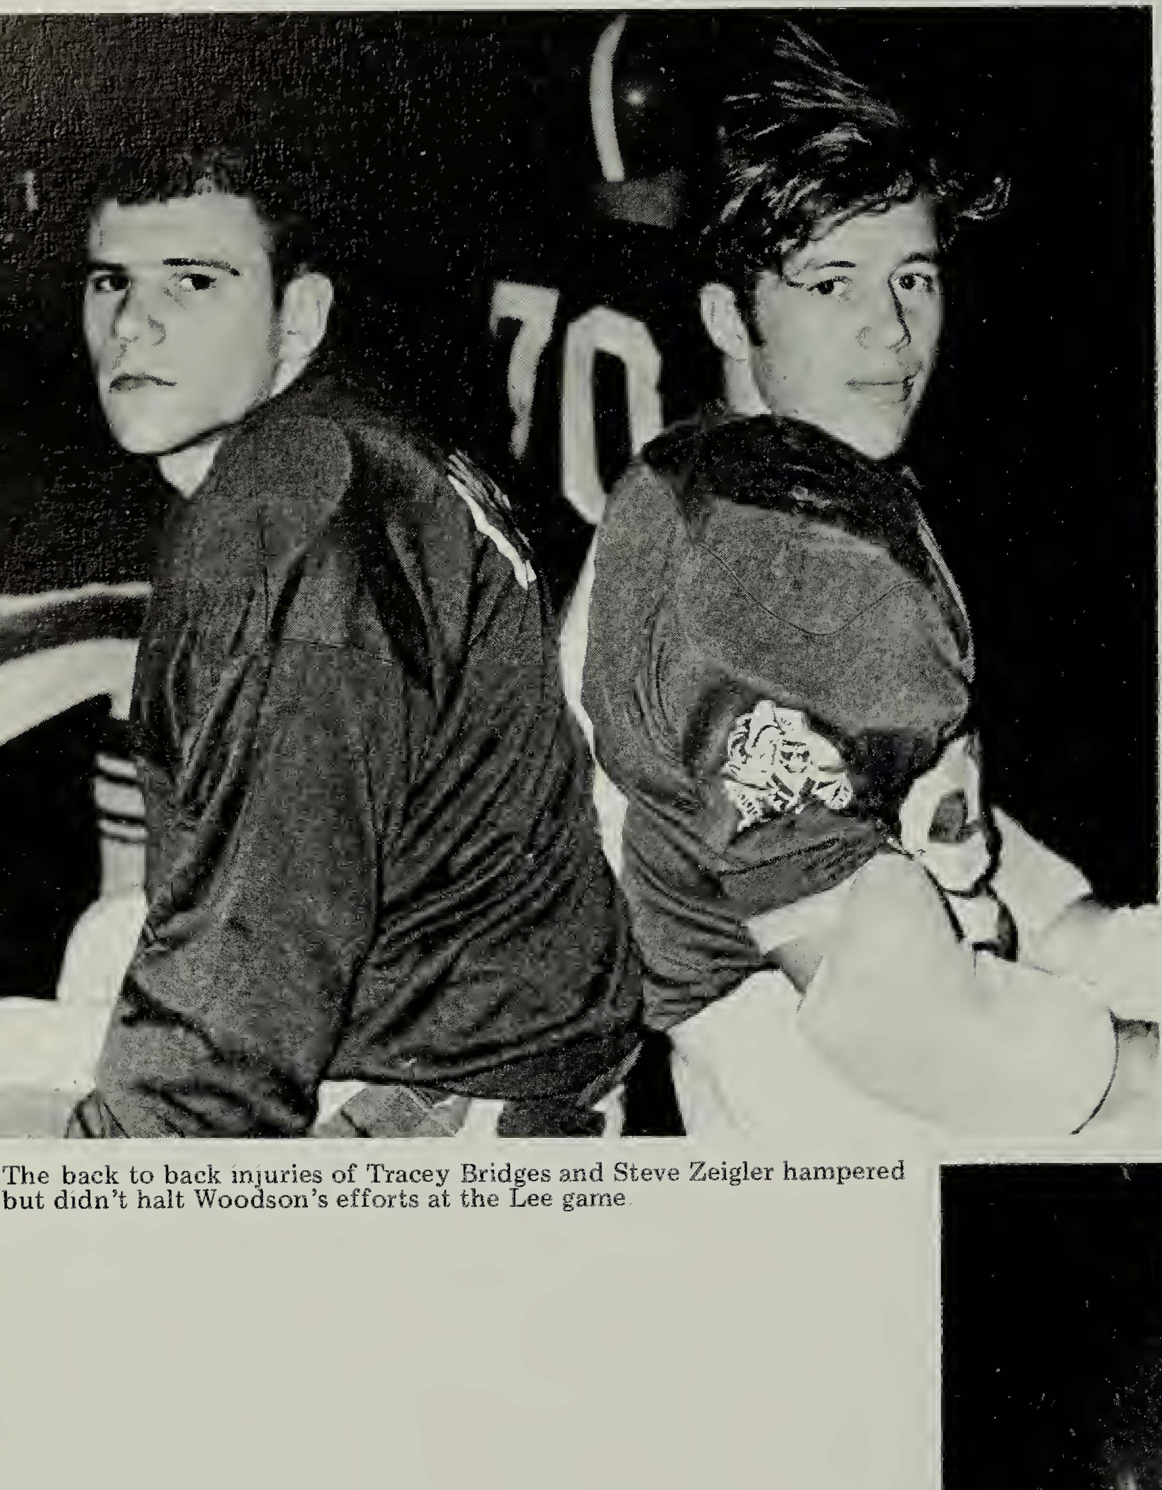
School had begun.

The bell rings at 3:15 and most Woodson students disperse to their various buses to go home only to be greeted by their chores or homework.

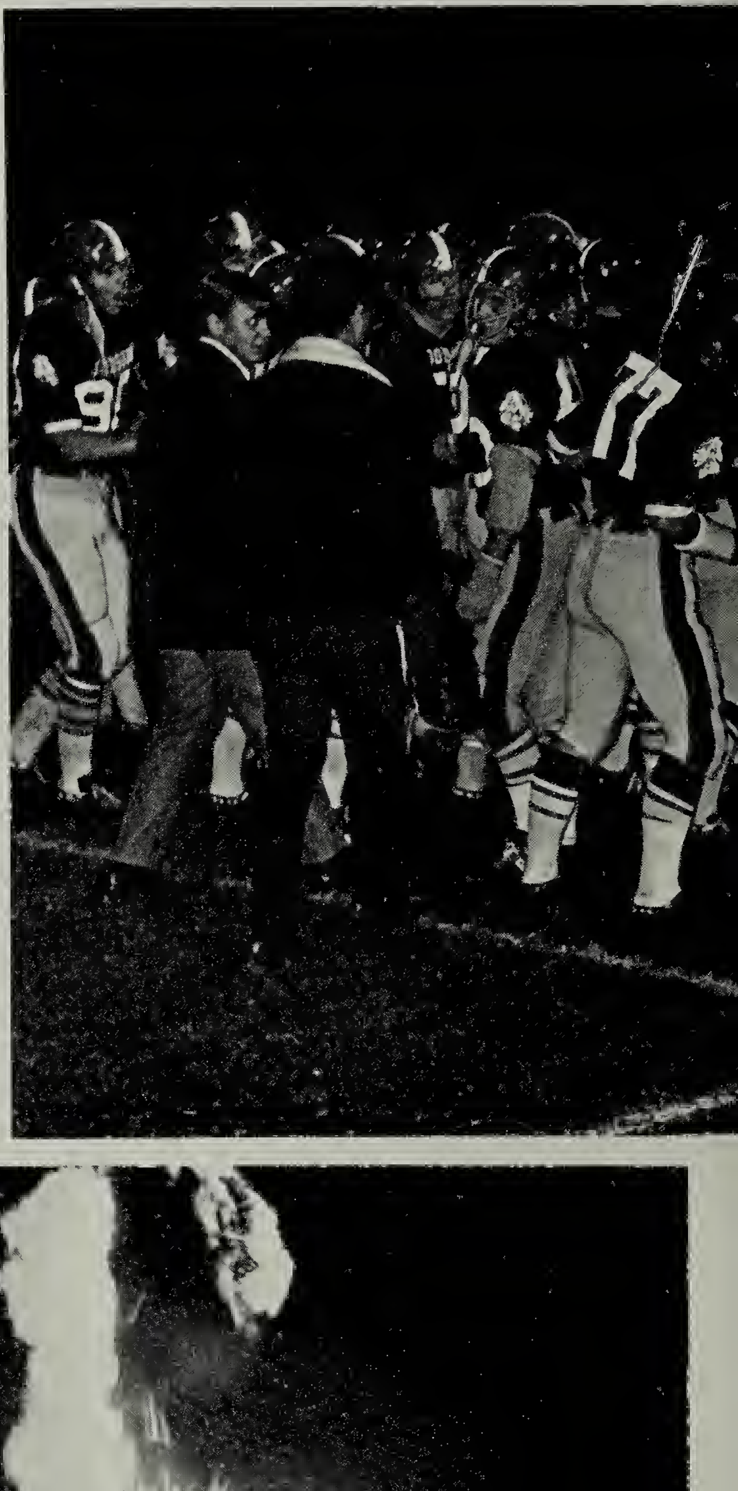
An amused senior guide, Daryl Powell, directs Glenn Dashiell, a confused freshman, down the right hall on the hectic first day of school. Woodson's halls, originally thought to be a maze of non-ordered passageways, soon came to be understood and their supposed complexity forgottern.

Harriet Massey, adding onto Cindy Hughitt's already enormous pile of school supplies, chuckles, "Poor kid . . . Wonder if I'll get a commission for this one!"

An enriching school year begins with the usual tense and excitement-filled football games



The back to back injuries of Tracey Bridges and Steve Zeigler hampered but didn't halt Woodson's efforts at the Lee game.



The bonfire before the Annandale game, coupled with the tangle of posters in the halls and the attitude of the students enabled Woodson to win the Northern District Spirit Award.

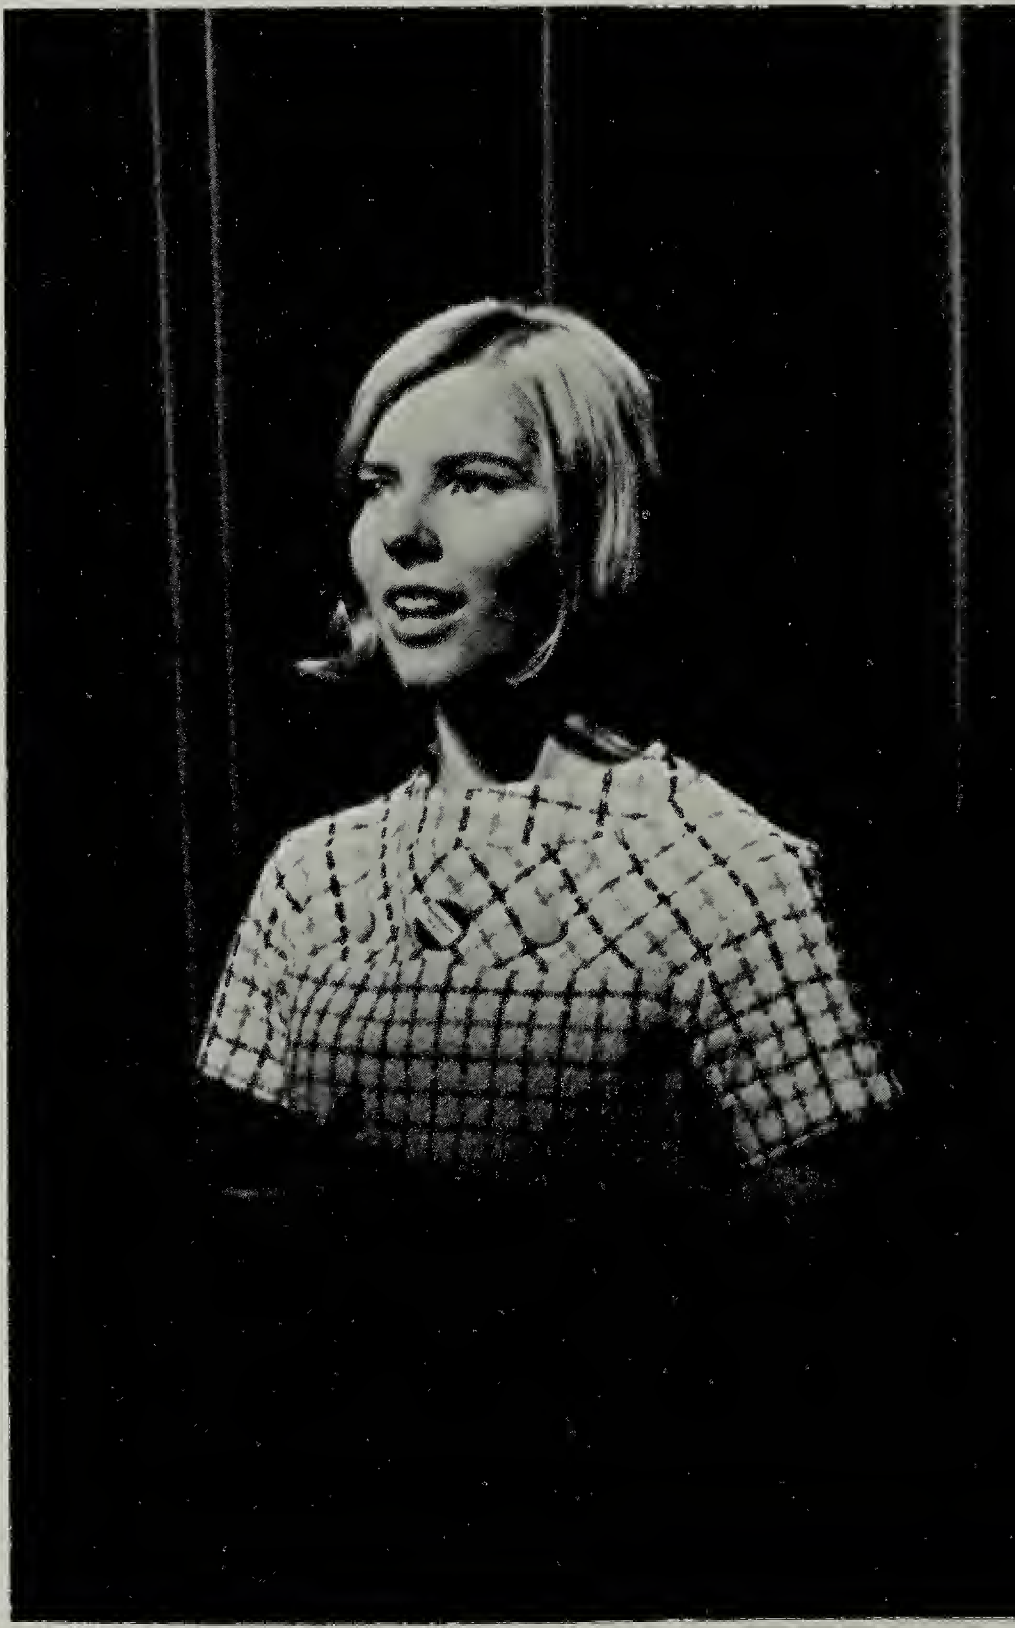
The imp in Larry Walsh is masked by his 6'2", 195 pound frame but it breaks through during the triumphant Lee game.

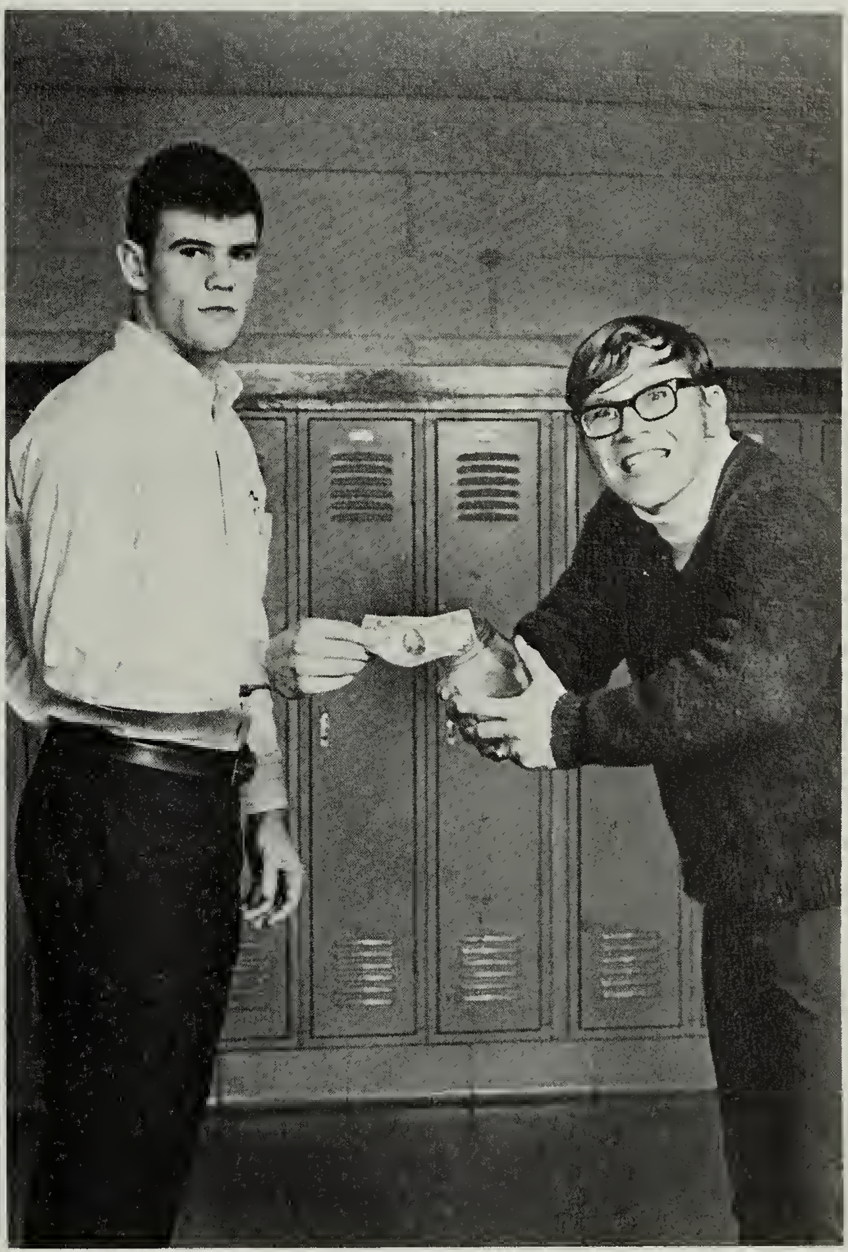
The cheerleaders, baton corps, and pep band generate spirit in a Friday morning pep rally.



Peggy Howell, Activities Committee Chairman of the S.C.A., speaks to the student body about the Magazine Drive goading them to sell magazines for Woodson.

It's picture taking time in the S.C.A. office and everyone crowds around Rick Vernon, top salesman in the Magazine Drive. Bill Duffy who seems to get equal billing with Rick, didn't do much of anything but get a good seat.

Nothing like commiseration to get support as Tracey Bridges helps Bill Hildbold win the "Ugly Man" Contest.



Many students find the library the perfect spot to get in some last minute studying in peace and quiet.

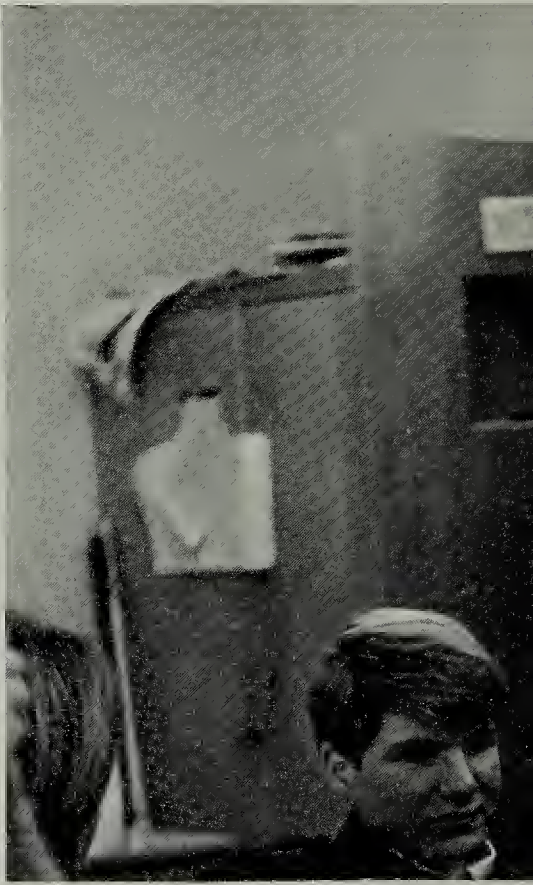
Comtemplating the coming dance and the impending profits Phil Shutler takes a break while other members of the Class of '70 work on diligently.



Marrin' Sam completes another super deluxe 25 cents wedding as Pam Forney and Rod Merrill are joined in not so holy wedlock.

Sally Strawinski isn't waiting for leap year as she chases Dale Gallagher down the hall to drag him to the alter.

Juniors bring Dogpatch to Woodson at the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance

Woodson's Lil' Abner, Bob Lee, complete with corn cob pipe and vegetable corsage, moves to the music at the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Mr. Lester Tanzer, an editor of the U.S. News and World Report, talks about careers in journalism to interested students. The speakers representing the careers of medicine, science, journalism, teaching, and law were of a quality unsurpassed in Leadership Training history and made a significant effect on many students' career asperations.

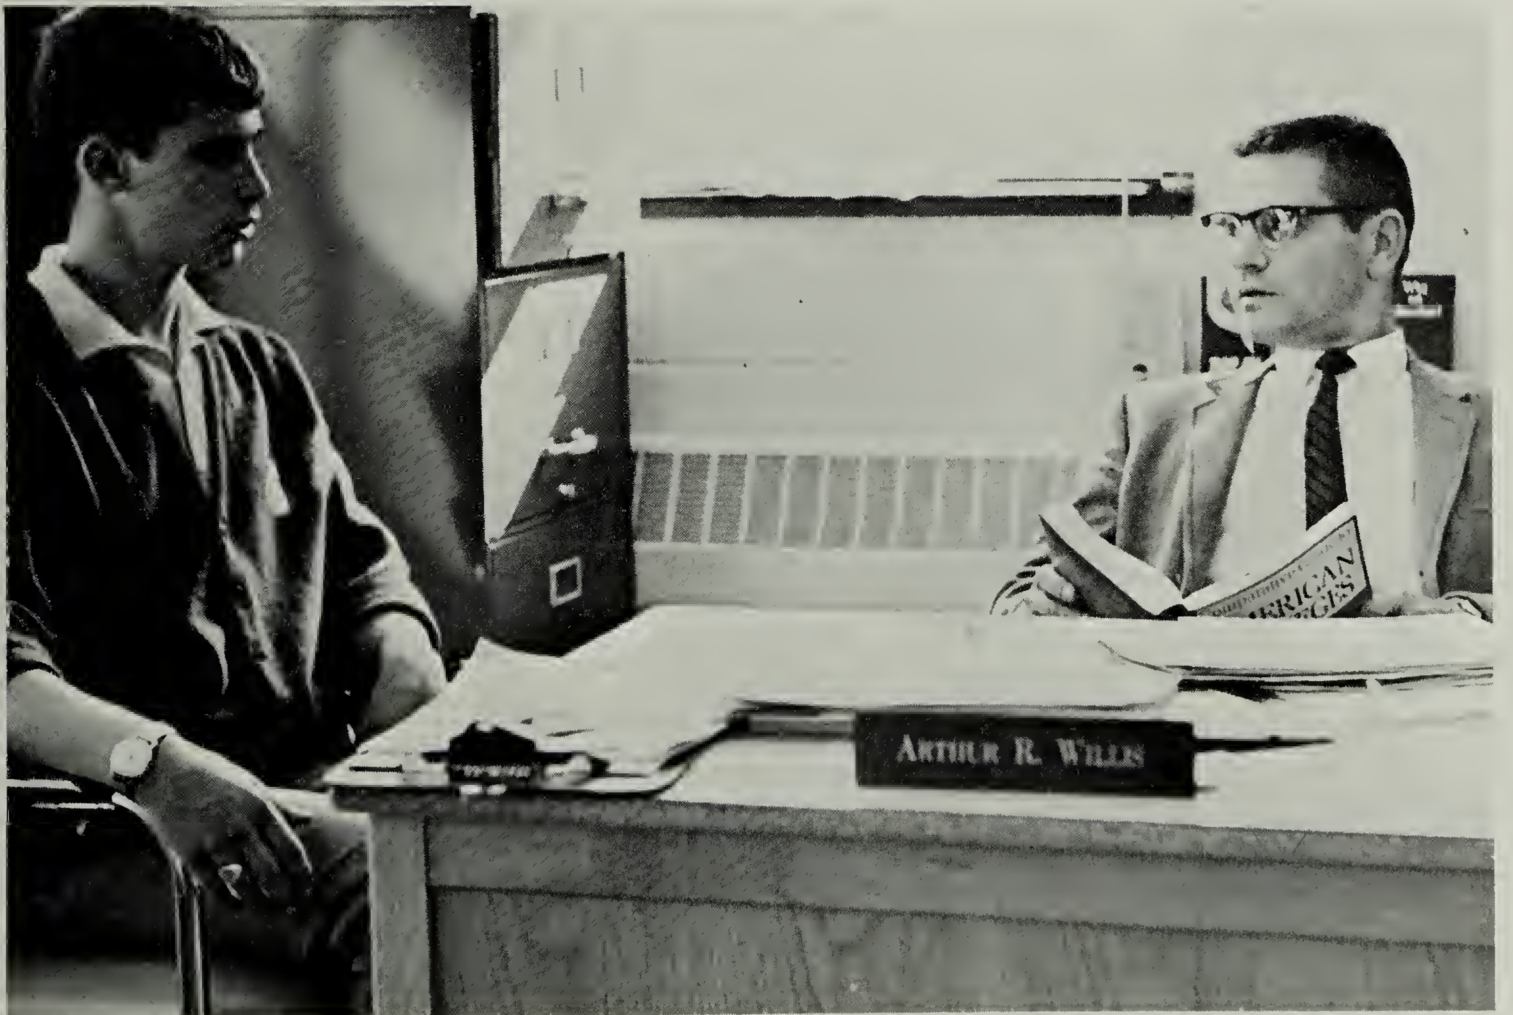
Nancy Cook is certifying her existence as she signs in at the Student Administration office. The office is like a narrow tunnel for exit and entrance into the world of Woodson.

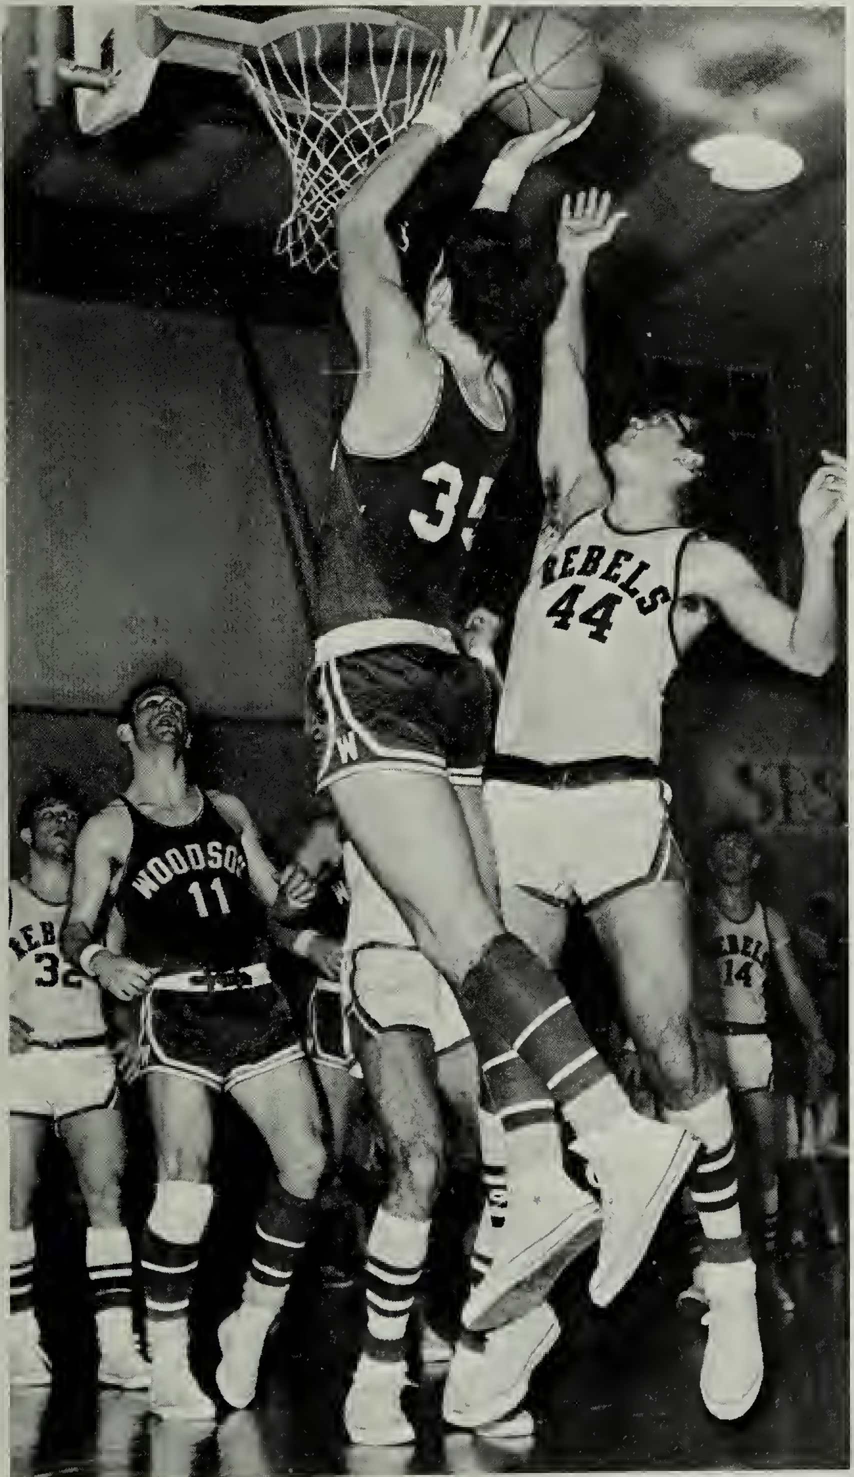


AMERICAN COLLEGES
ARTHUR R. WILLIS

Mr. Willis, Greg Frazier's guidance counselor, is sure there's a college for him . . . somewhere.

Shoulder to shoulder (knee to back), jubilant Cavaliers press together to share the experience of a victorious Stuart basketball game.

Success in basketball expected and realized

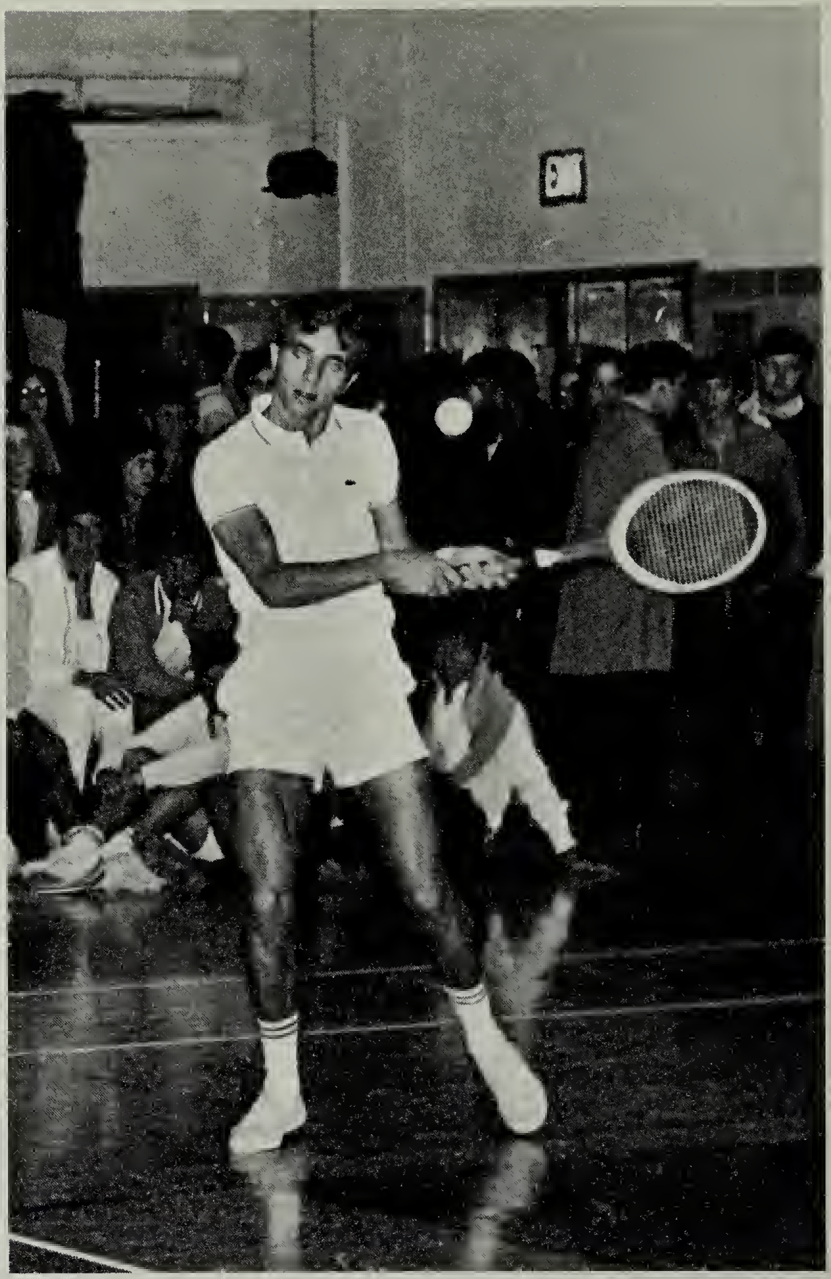


The hopes of the Cavaliers rise with the ball that T.J. Pecorak guides into the basket during the victorious Fairfax game.

Hunched shoulders, moist brows, and overworked nerves make up part of a Woodson basketball game. Pride in the team, pride in victory, and pride in companionship make up the rest.

Tense cheerleaders join with a tense crowd to urge the basketball team to its victory over Jefferson.

Woodson hosts international tennis players



George Gilbert with his baseball swing moves to return the hard hit serve of Patrice Dominquez of France. George was the Junior Tennis Champion in his home country of Spain.

Kurt Clonninger and Stephanie Myers enjoy the pleasure of each others company with the music of Claud Jones filling the room.

A silent exchange of thoughts travel through the hands of Suzanne Carr and Stuart Bradford.

Julie Rubino instructs a Home Ec. class during the riotous Student Administration Day. The seniors discovered how hard it is to be a teacher.

These two hard working finance office secretaries, Bill Hayes and B. J. Stahl, learn the hard way that Student Administration Day isn't all fun and games.

Mr. Billak (Vernon Gardner) asks the question, "And just where do you think you're going?" as he catches a car load of students taking a lunch break.

Captain's Quarters

Moody melodies float the chamber choir and the receptive audience down "Old Man River" during the Extravaganza.

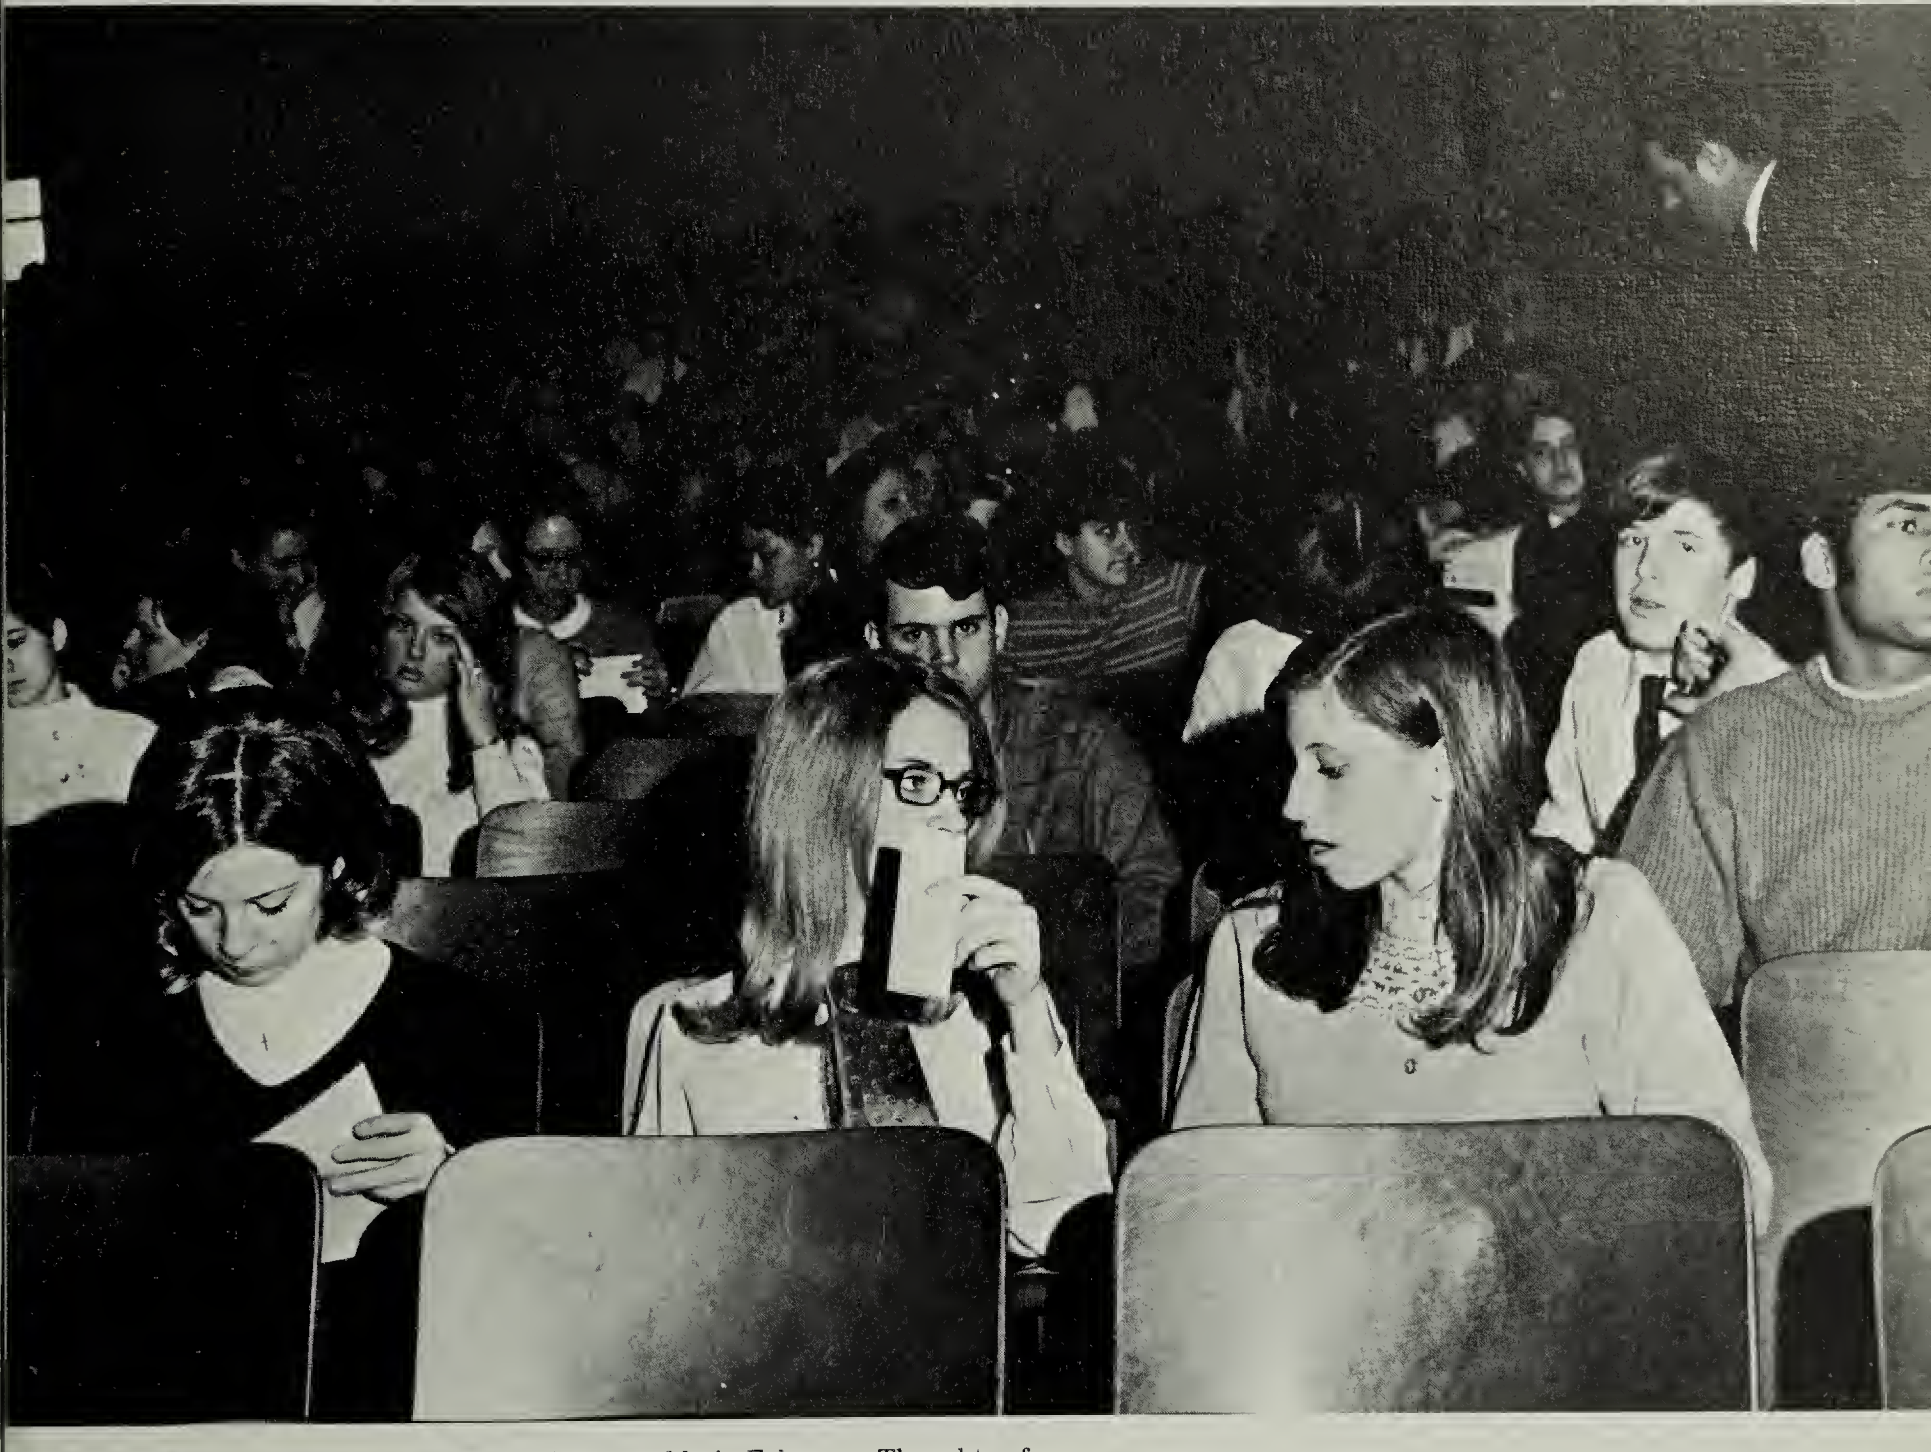
Intervals filled with entertainment, such as Scott Lewis and Dayna Matthews serenading each other in "Paul and Paula", lent a joyful tone to Extravaganza.

It's obvious that the only scare about Woodson's early spring bomb scares is the fear of getting cold feet.

Chief musician, Larry Kreitner, leds the Navy Dance Band, the "Commodors" in a loud but widely appreciated assembly.

Dennis West lounges in the grass as the first sign of spring fever socks it to him.

Spring heralds the final stretch of an unequalled year



Nonchalance reigns during a noisy senior assembly in February. Thoughts of the graduation ceremony begin as announcements are ordered and cap sizes taken.

West Side Story bursts alive under the explosive talent of the Class of '69

Bill Hayes, a member of the Jets, sets to attack Jack Armstrong, a Shark member. Surrounding the two combatants are the gangs waiting for their cue to join in the struggle.

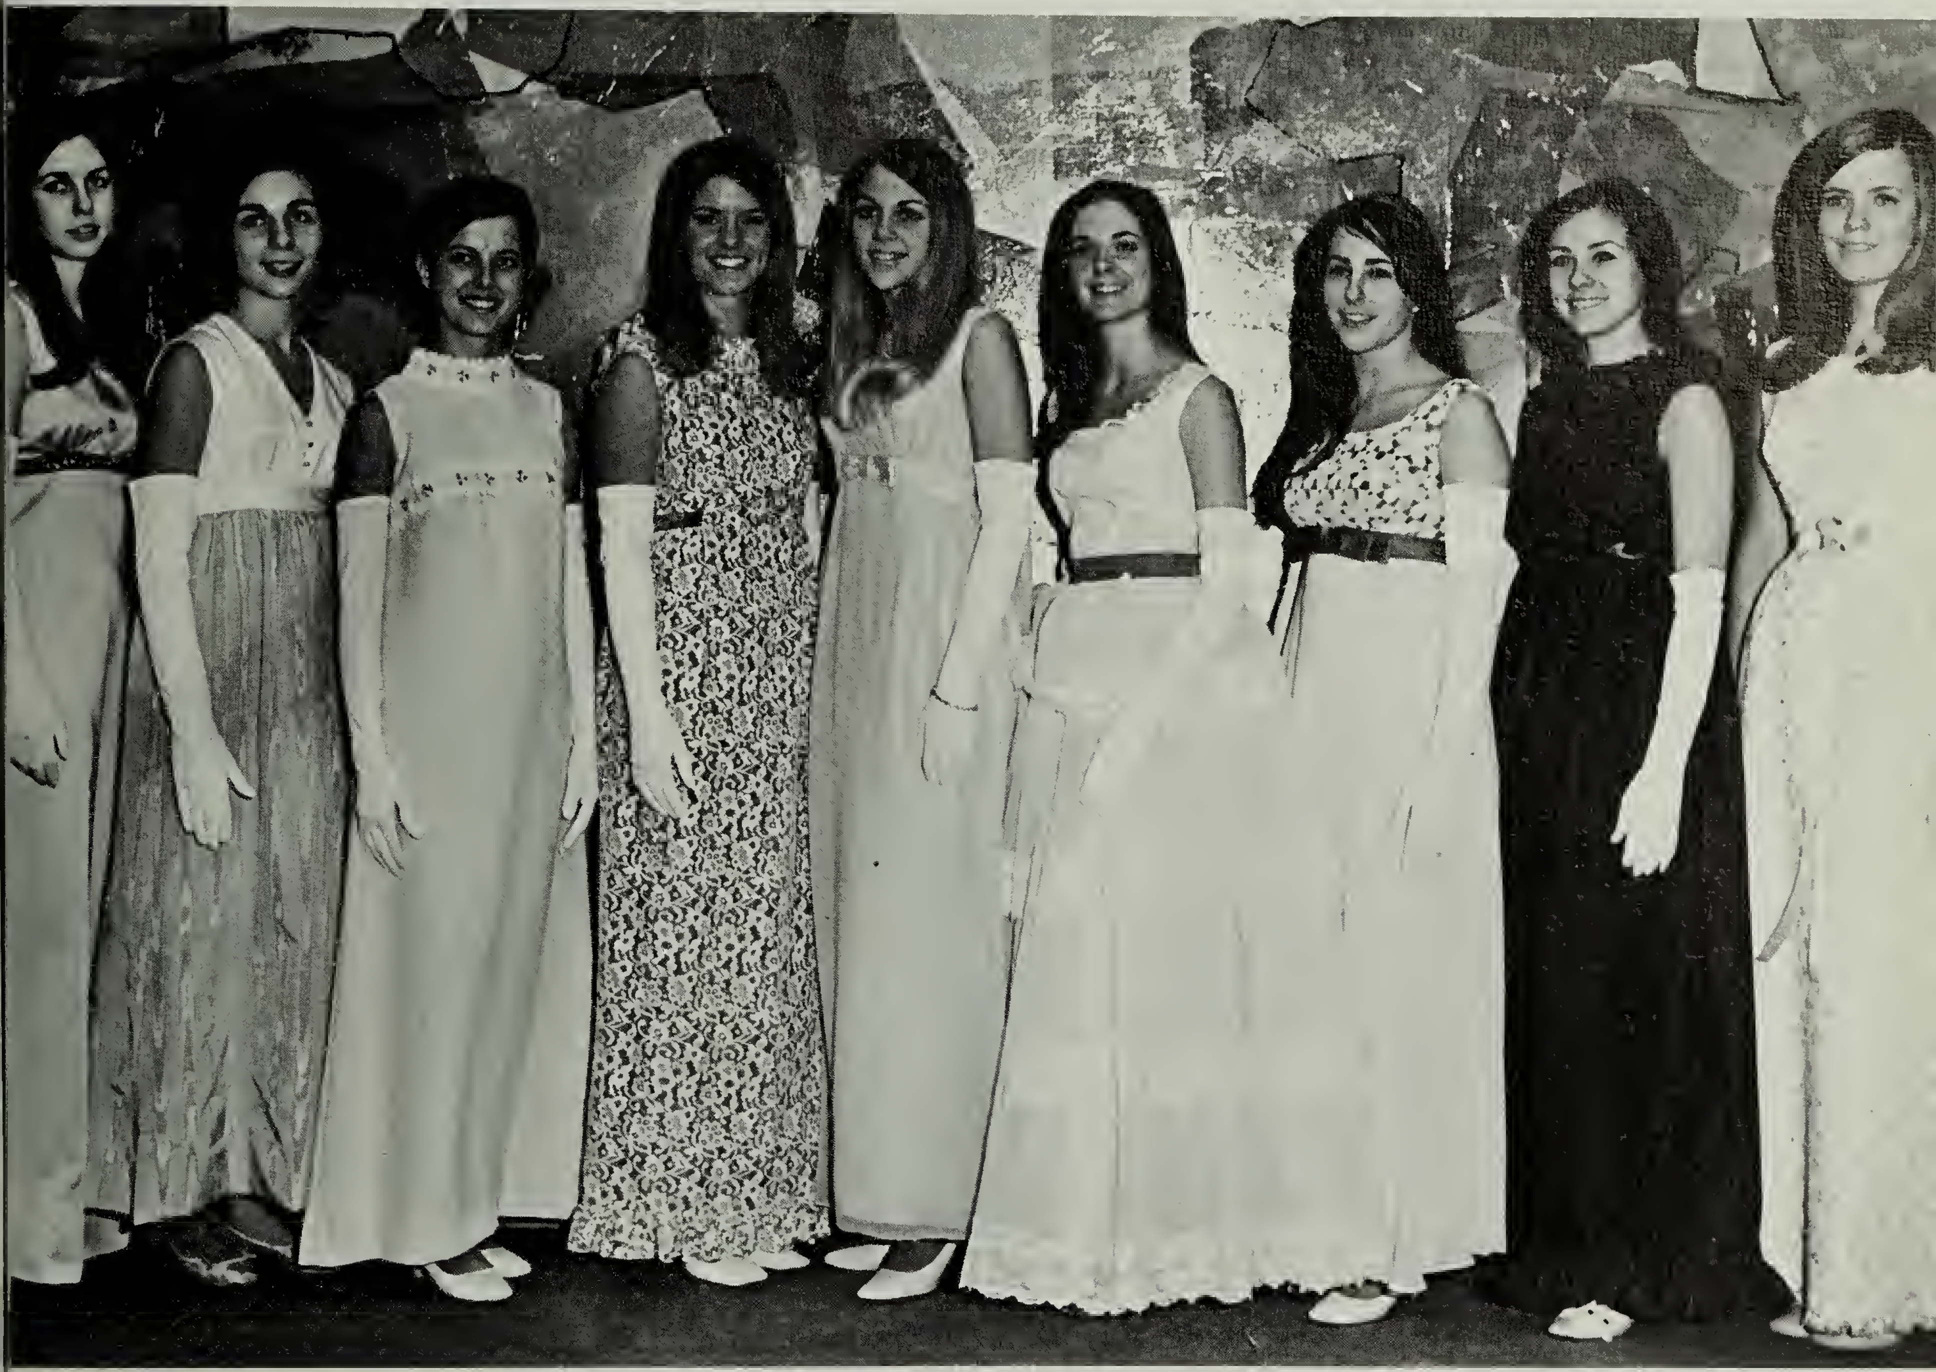
Tony, Dayna Matthews, and Maria, Susan Lane, sing "There's a Place for Us" on the Bridle Shop set of West Side Story.

The assembled members of the rival gangs enthusiastically pose for publicity pictures. The play, performed by the seniors, was a success for the cast and for the Senior Class. Talent abounded in such great measure from the Class of '69 that only now did Mrs. Bedinger, director, feel that West Side Story could be performed.

Dayna Matthews, Jack Armstrong, and Mark Levitt recreate the death of Bernado and Riff on a simulated set of West Side Story.

Ignorant of the photographers around her, Candance Callaham dances to the rhythm of the Village Squires at the annual Sweetheart Dance.

The doe-eyed Queen of the Sweetheart Dance, Dora Lee Holmes, finds pride in the face of her escort, Bruce Hogge.



These "Wonderland" beauties, Kris Stout; Karen Moot; Cathy Bracewell; Carol Duley, Maid of Honor; Dora Lee Holmes, Queen; Anne Ellerbrake; Kathy Milillo; Wendy Wilburn; and Ruth Tucker compose the 1969 Sweetheart Court.

Student Government

Bretheren, it has been rumored that S.C.A. is dead. How can this fallacy exist in a world where you are surrounded by the proofs of its immortal benevolence. Lo, and behold, view the trees, flowers and benches around you. Its universal mercy extendeth from Woodson to Biafra; Its steadfast enduring love hath created the Spring Concert. Sinner, have you no faith? Student Government liveth!

Senate

The Senate, as one of the most influential organizations in the school, was modeled after the upper house of Congress. Senators representing each organization delved into and solved the problems of student life. The dilemma of smoking on school grounds dominated most of their meetings.

NHS

Part of a National organization, the Woodson chapter perpetuates the ideals of character, service, leadership, and scholarship.

Seeking to Honor these characteristics, the Honor Society provides recognition for outstanding students.

The Honor Society also endeavors to find an opportunity to serve the Society of the school through curriculum evaluation, library reorganization, teachers aides, and tutoring.

The Society takes an active role in providing talented Juniors and Seniors with an opportunity to contribute to the school.

Sally D'Angelo, prose editor, looks blankly in space. Perhaps she is brooding over the meaning and desirability of a submitted essay or perhaps she wishes she was. Dissention concerning its format of the literary magazine plus a lack of real support from the student body compromised the high level of excellence of the magazine.

Cavalcade

W.T. Woodson '68-'69—Further information has been made available on the case of the people of Woodson versus the Cavalcade. The defendent, having been accused of unimaginativeness and repetition, brought forth a new witness. The testimony thus procured indicated that, although certain subversive organizations have attempted to undermine the popularity of the Cavalcade, the attempts have been THORNted and STUDENT PRESSure to improve said publication has resulted in a more vital format and vastly improved subject matter.

With this clinching evidence, the only verdict that can be reached is NOT Guilty.

Here lies the Woodson Yearbook
Born: September 6, 1968
Laid to rest: March 15, 1969

Throughout its lifetime the yearbook dominated the minds of its twenty-nine vassals. Though often a cruel tyrant, it inspired devotion and hard work. Raised with all the care its foster parents could lavish upon it, the dearly departed epitomized craftmanship and quality. As living tribute to the '68 - '69 school year,

Its memory will endure.

Is there no peace? Is there no understanding? Can nothing be done? The ruling generation does not seem prone to change. But the future? What if teenagers swapped countries for a year? Why not?

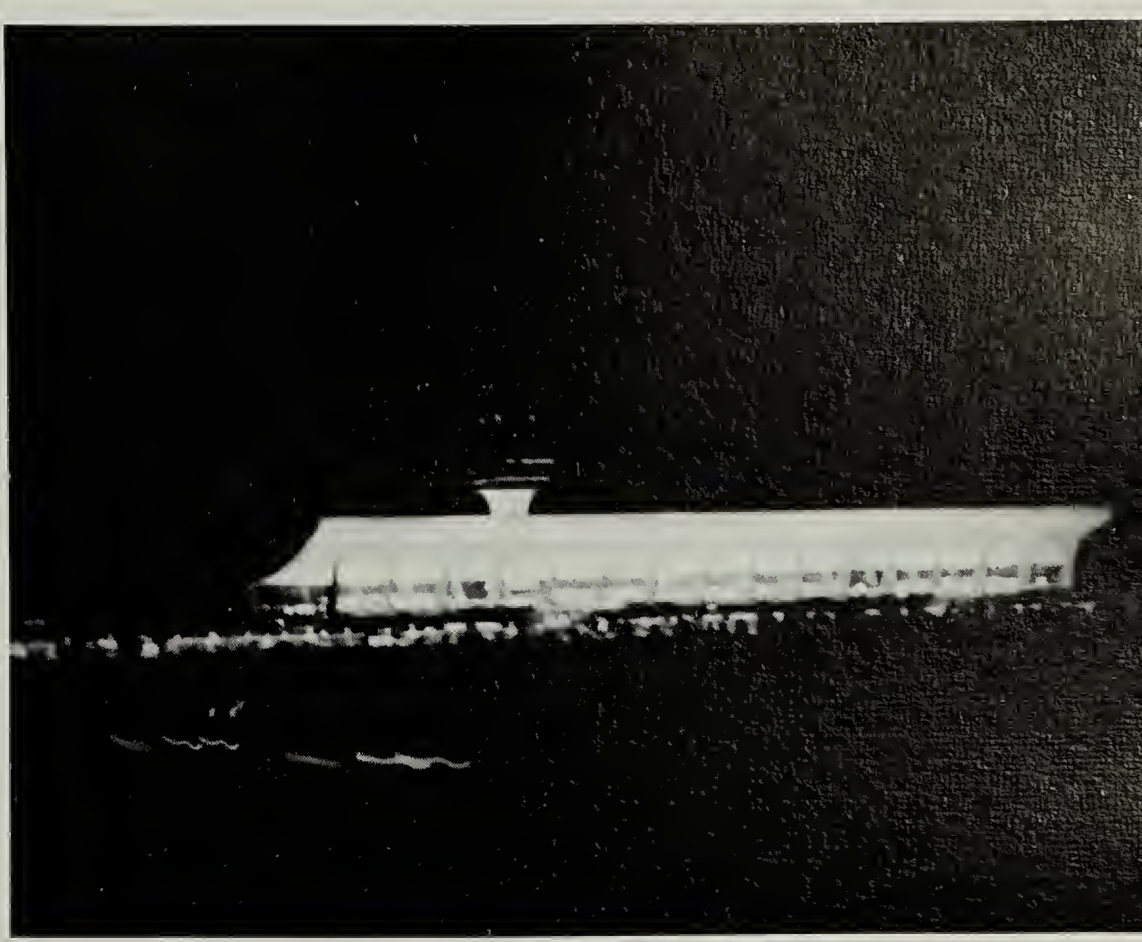
Latin Club

You say that you consider Latin a dead language which no one will ever use again? You think that students who take Latin are wasting their time? Just for fun, try to convince a member of the Latin Club. This year's organization, the most active in Woodson's history, attended state-wide conventions, sponsored their annual Roman banquet, and conducted bake sales throughout the year. However, the climax of the year's acitivities came in April when members embarked on a ten day trip to Rome. While in Italy, they travelled to such world famous places as Florence and Pompeii.

You may still believe that Latin is never used, but any member of the Latin Club knows that it is certainly not dead.



The first leg of the Latin Club's unprecedented trip to Italy involved the late night departure from Dulles Airport.

Spanish Club

To join the Spanish Club it is not necessary to prove yourself in the bullring, nor dance a respectable flamenco, nor recite El Cid by memory, nor love Franco. To join the Spanish Club all that is needed is a delight and appreciation of the Spanish language and culture.

Reaching for an accomplishment more meaningful than a good grade in Spanish, Wanting to impart the knowledge of a foreign country to others,
Seeking recognition for outstanding work,

Those who were inducted into the Spanish Honor Society found a fulfillment of these needs.

Key Club

Why should a member devote his weekends to service?
Why should he give his time to help someone else?
Why should he perform the miserable tasks others so conscientiously avoid?
With all the hate and trouble in the world, why should one small group even try?

A teenager thinks twice about running a red light.
A freshman finds his classroom a little more easily.
A tuberculosis patient forgets his problems for a brief while.
Small victories that, put together, will one day win the war.

Drama Club

They release the dream imprisoned deep within:
to live, for a short time,
the life of someone else . . .
and at the same time,
to bring tears,
laughter,
and a forever enduring moment of escape from the world.

The Diary of Anne Frank, the story of a girl's existance in war-torn Holland was the Drama Club's first production of the year. The play was a tremendous success.

Forensics

The public does not stand, poised, waiting breathlessly for words of wisdom.

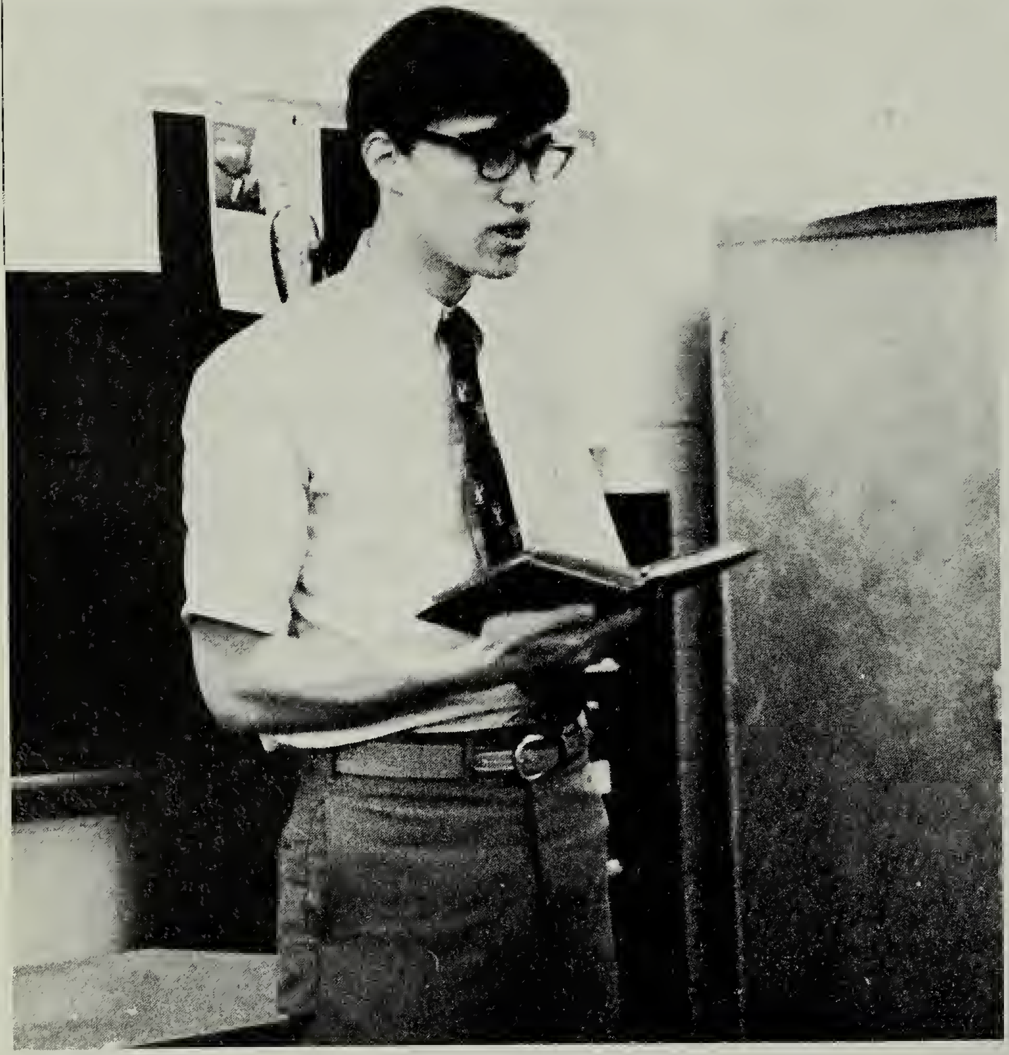
Poets do not linger, inspired.

The empty seats stare back, disinterested.

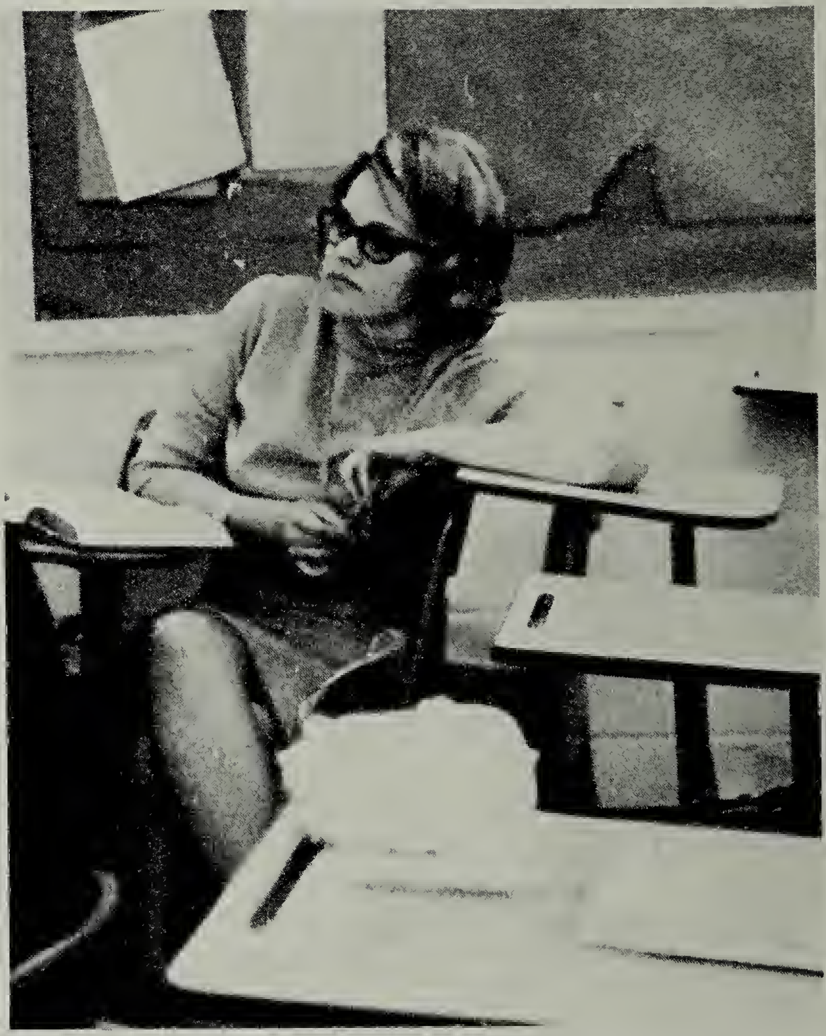
Yet, upon the completion of his oration, the Forensics Team member feels a sense of pride and achievement.

The world may not be thrilled, but he is.

Fran Keyes does her thing interpreting poetry during a session to determine who would represent Woodson at the District Forensics Competition.



John Dale emotes the right feeling to his poetry at a Forensics competition. Talented speakers projected their feelings and interpretations to the critical ears of English teachers.



Mrs. Ashton, sponsor of the Forensics movement at Woodson, pays close attention to one of her forensic participants.

Should the foreign aid policy of the United States be limited to non-military assistance? Should uniform regulations be established for the control of criminal investigation procedures? These represent just a few of the controversial questions which W.T.W. debate teams have resolved in the past. This year's debate topic presented an equal challenge. Against teams of other area schools, Woodson's debate team argued the merits of this countyr's system of drafting men into the armed forces. To prepare for these weekly meets, the members attended workshops established to help teams formulate their plan of attack. These were held at such notable places as the College of William and Mary and the University of Virginia. Before the opening of the season intersquad scrimages furnished all team members with valuable experience. These two factors plus ordinary hard work gave the Woodson debaters one of their finest seasons on record.

John Drye and Steve Weigler of the Debate Team pore over countless books to discover that one gem of wisdom which would devastate the opposition. The Debate Team under the direction of Mr. Harrington compiled a fairly good record this season.

FTA

Have you considered your future life's work? A member of F.T.A. is given the chance to explore opportunities in the field of education. By observing the techniques of various teachers at nearby elementary schools, they discovered whether teaching was their desired career.

Trying hard to remember the simple steps of addition, B.J. Stahl tries to help one of her third-grade students. Teaching at Wakefield Forest Elementary School was one of the duties performed by members of the Future Teachers of America.

Dear Granny Fanny:

I have this intense urge to cook, give parties, serve food and do other homemaking chores. I tried this around my home, but I got very little response. I would rather serve more people--my school or my community. What should I do?

The audience sat, by the music enthralled,
And the Bands Played On.
By their pep we're inspired, by their prowess required
To congratulate them one and all.
Their talent, well known, was amply shown
As the Bands Played On.

[To be sung to the tune of The Band Played On]

Baton Corps

The Baton Corps, one of the more decorative organizations of the school, incited school spirit at games and pep rallies. The rapid movement of their glittering batons created a brilliant spectacle as loyal Cavaliers contributed to the team's efforts.

When it is cold outside the Baton Corps is in. Before games the girls do their thing to promote pep and spirit and support for Woodson teams to the chagrin of crammers and to the pleasure of voyeurs in the cafeteria.

Math Team

An equation skipped across his mind and stood, mockingly, just beyond his reach. The time ticked on. Feverish figures appeared on the page. The time ticked on. A spark is kindled, a idea grows, the numbers fall into place. The answer appeared and was soon forgotten as the next problem haughtily refused to be solved. And the time ticked on.

What do you call an earl's wife?

Where did the Battle of the Nations take place?

Who wrote Pilgrim's Progress?

Do you know the answers? Ask a member of the W.T. Woodson It's Academic team. To become a member of the team, the applicant had to possess certain peculiar talents, such as the ability to digest and disgorge at a moment's notice, vast quantities of otherwise useless information. Under the pressure of television cameras, the encyclopedia perusing, almanac reading, and textbook absorbing paid off.

Spelunking . . . The ultimate frontier. This is the goal of the Subterranean Science Club. Its year-round mission:

to seek out new caves and new abysses to boldly go where no Woodsonite has gone before.

Begrimed but undaunted members of the Subterranean Science club pause for a picture in Clark's Cave in Millboro, Virginia.

Archeology Club

Facing unimaginable terrors, worms, blisters, worms, sunburns, and worms, this small, dedicated group labored to uncover some of the mysteries of the past. They participated in archeological projects throughout Fairfax County in which literally thousands of bits of pottery, china, bottles, and nails were found. These items had to be cleaned, catalogued, and mended, a task so great that it necessitated year-round work. But still undaunted, the Archeology Club, only in its second year of existence, looks forward to many more "digs," many more worms, sunburns, blisters, bits of pottery, uncountable nails, and back-breaking work at various sites in the future.

Completely absorbed in their work, members of the Archaeology Club go about the arduous task of separating different types of glass collected from Dranesville Tavern. After separating the pieces the members began the job of putting the glass back together into some recognizable form.

Bridge Club

Eyes peered warily from behind the cards. Narrowing, as they scrutinized the opponent, they tried to detect his strategy. Quickly the eyes switched to the partner's face, vainly seeking some reassurance of victory. "Your bid," the opponent's harsh voice rasped. The weekly meeting of the Bridge Club began.

Medical Careers

Laughing wickedly at the gleeful thought of slicing and dissecting people, the Medical Careers Club members applied themselves to their life's choice. Hearing lectures on their favorite subject, medicine, and visiting the medical school at John Hopkins University, helped them gain a better understanding of their potential career.

They had some sympathy for the doomed human race, however, as was demonstrated by the Christmas party given for orphans of a nearby orphanage.

The Cavaliers advanced 400 yards, held Fairfax to 60-yards-rushing, intercepted four Blair Lear deliveries, and knocked Fairfax from first to fourth place in the Northern Virginia Standings downing the Rebels, 34-7. Pete Hansen averaged 6.5 yards a carry for a total of 191 yards and one touchdown.

The defensive unit, sparked by Keith Michaels and Rick Sprague (21, right), held the Rebels to only one score. Michaels captured two of the four passes seized from Fairfax receivers and, in doing so, set up two of the Cavalier scoring drives which enabled Woodson to move well beyond the reach of the previously undefeated Rebels.

Annandale 7
WOODSON 0

A third quarter touchdown by Atom halfback Pete Salvano gave Annandale the edge they needed as they downed Woodson, 7-0. The Atoms held Tracy Bridges to only 17-yards-passing as halfbacks Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen secured only 38-yards-rushing.

Penalties, a continual hinderance to the Cavaliers, severely injured their offensive attack on two occasions. An ineligible receiver downfield prevented a first down on third and one and moved the ball back to the Woodson 11-yard-line. Bridges' punt carried only 32 yards and the Atoms moved from the Cavalier 43-yard-line to obtain the only score of the game. Later, during the fourth quarter, Rick Sprague recovered an Annandale fumble, placing the ball on the Atom 34-yard-line; Bridges followed with a pass completion to Wayne Dill, allowing for a first down on fourth and five; however, the play was annulled due to an illegal motion penalty against Woodson.

Mike Hincewicz (10, above) tried several times to snare Bridges' passes; the odds, however, proved to be against him as the Atom defense held Bridges to only four completions in thirteen attempts. The Cavalier defense, led by Larry Walch and Steve Zeigler, gave the opposing quarterback, Rick Ellson, his share of the headaches, holding Annandale without a first down for the opening 20 minutes of the game.

Stuart 7

Bob Smith (left, 23) and Lee Draper (62) were quite effective in stopping Raider halfback Blair Caviness (24); thus, forcing Stuart to rely on the passing of Nick Vidnovic. Smith later stopped a last minute Raider scoring threat, intercepting a Vidnovic delivery on his own 23-yard-line just moments after Cavalier quarterback Tracy Bridges had deadlocked the game at seven-all, hitting Mike Hincewicz on a 26-yard scoring pass play.

The Cavalier defense merged the running of Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen with the blocking efforts of Randy Whitmire to secure 221-yards-rushing with Jukes gaining 118 yards in 23 carries. Mistakes prevented several scoring drives; however, as the Raiders picked off three passes and recovered two fumbles.

Steve Zeigler piloted the active Cavalier defense in repelling Stuart scoring threats four times inside the 25, including a desperation stand at the four.

Bridges threw for one touchdown and ran for another as Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen continued to roll-up yardage for the Cavaliers. Bridges (11, at right) used the option to his advantage; however, he was not without his difficulties in gaining yardage.

WOODSON 14

With one minute, 23 seconds remaining in the game, Falls Church quarterback Jim Flather completed a 39-yard-scoring-pass to Bill Anderson which gave the Jaguars the edge they needed to defeat Woodson, 20-14. As was true in several previous games, fumbles and penalties hurt the Cavalier's severely. Two interceptions were called back; one of which, an interception-touchdown by Owen Dickens, was called back on a roughing the passer penalty late in the third quarter.

Terry Jukes (33, above) scored the Cavalier's first touchdown on a one-yard-run, while Tracy Bridges accounted for Woodson's final touchdown also crashing in from the one.

Oakton 13

The Cavalier defense, behind Vernon Gardener and Captain Steve Zeigler, held visiting Oakton scoreless until the fourth quarter as the Woodson offensive unit rolled up five touchdowns, behind the running of Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen, to defeat the Cougars, 34-13. Jukes gained 158 yards and three touchdowns in 16 carries, scoring on 4, 8, and 85-yard-runs, while Hansen (22, left) gained 149 yards in 16 carries and one toucdown on a lateral from Bridges good for 44 yards.

Edison 13

Bill Nesley substituted for injured quarterback Tracy Bridges and led the Cavaliers over the Eagles in the season opener at Edison. Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen accounted for the majority of Woodson's 305 yards with Hansen gaining a touchdown and 54 of the 57 yards on the Cavalier's first scoring drive. Jukes scored twice on 5 and 22-yards runs, the first of which was accomplished with less than a minute remaining in the opening half.

Nesley completed several key passes during a 90-yard march for a second quarter touchdown, hitting for 24 yards to Clark Funk and for 27 yards to Mike Hincewicz. Hincewicz scored the final touchdown on an 18-yard pass from Nesley which was followed by a pass interception by Joe Winfree (left, 32) which destroyed Eagle hopes of a last minute upset.

West Springfield 0

West Springfield gave up the ball five times on fumbles and failed to invade the Cavalier 40-yard-line as they were crushed by visiting Woodson, 34-0. Clark Funk and Mike Hincewicz each received touchdown passes from recovered quarterback Tracy Bridges, while the offensive front line of the Cavaliers (shown below) provided near perfect blocking for Terry Jukes (33) as well as for Bridges with Tom Tackaberry (66), Steve Brooks (67), and Lee Draper (62) battering the Spartan defense.

McLean 6

Undefeated Woodson boasted its fourth victory of the season as they downed highly favored McLean, 14-6, behind quarterback Tracy Bridges who gained 63-yards-rushing and completed six passes for 30-yards. Halfback Terry Jukes scored the decisive touchdown late in the third quater, while Pete Hansen (left, 22) had some difficulty penetrating the Highlander defense.

Defensive back, Brian Hoffman set up the final Cavalier score with a timely pass interception which halted a short Highlander drive on their own 11-yard-line. McLean had earlier marched to the Woodson 15-yard-line with 25 seconds remaining in the first half; however, they were prevented from scoring when Rick Sprague apprehended a misguided McLean aerial, taking the ball in his own end zone.

Lee 7

Defensive back, Bill Nesley once again substituted for Bridges who was injured early in the game, and led the Cavaliers to a 19-7 victory over Lee. Woodson advanced 212 yards while holding the Lancers to ten yards rushing and 120 yards in the air.

The offensive attack was sparked once again by the running of Terry Jukes and Pete Hansen with Jukes scoring two of the three Cavalier touchdowns. Nesley had a little trouble finding his mark on several occasions, once specifically when he threw a pass to the wrong side of Wayne Dill (right, 83); Dill cut sharply, slipped, and fell attempting to apprehend the ball. Nesley may have had trouble completing his passes; however, he had little trouble in intercepting those thrown by the opposing quarterback as he liberated two from fustrated Lee defenders.

The Raiders led throughout most of the game, building up a 38-25 half-time lead, their largest of the evening; however, Woodson went to work in second half and by the end of the third quarter, had whittled Stuart's lead to eight points, 47-39. In the fourth quarter, the Cavaliers closed the gap to within one point with 43 seconds remaining when Terri Jukes completed a fieldgoal to give Woodson the advantage at, 53-52. Stuart's final attempt to score failed with John Pecorak grabbing the last rebound to end the game. At this dramatic close to a successful season, Mr. Ladson (right), Woodson's principal, was carried to the Cavalier basket where he swiftly removed the net through which, moments before, Jukes had dispatched the winning basket.

Stuart 67

The last two games of the season proved to be two of the best games of the season for T. J. Pecorak as he scored 25 points against the Raiders to boost Woodson to the Northern District Championship, while later scoring 29 points in the Wakefield game at the Regional Tournament. T. J., along with Jeff Michaels, led the Cavaliers in scoring while John Pecorak and Tracey Bridges sparked the defensive unit.

Jim O'Brien, Stuart's two time All-Metropolitan, was a continual hinderance to the Cavaliers, as he scored 39 points and captured 20 rebounds. O'Brien (45, right) also took several opportunities to relieve Wayne Dill (32) of the ball; however, he was often a little careless and fouled him on two occasions.

Wakefield	84
WOODSON	75

With the loss of starter John Pecorak early in the second quarter, Woodson was unable to contain Wakefield as the Cavaliers were defeated, 84-75. Woodson, however, played probably its finest game of the season with T. J. Pecorak (34, above) scoring 29 points while securing 9 rebounds, as Tracey Bridges compiled 16 points and captured 4 rebounds. Woodson rallied several times, in an attempt to destroy the Warrior lead and nearly tied the score at half-time, 40-39, after whittling down a 12 point Wakefield lead; moreover, the Cavaliers succeeded in by-passing the Warriors on three occasions, but never by more than one point. The Northern District Champions continued to close the gap at 57-55 with 1:25 remaining in the third period; however that was the closest they would ever come again as the Warriors dominated the boards in the fourth quarter. The Regional Tournament, for the second consecutive year, marked the close of a long, successful season for Woodson, while it also destroyed Cavalier hopes for the State championship.

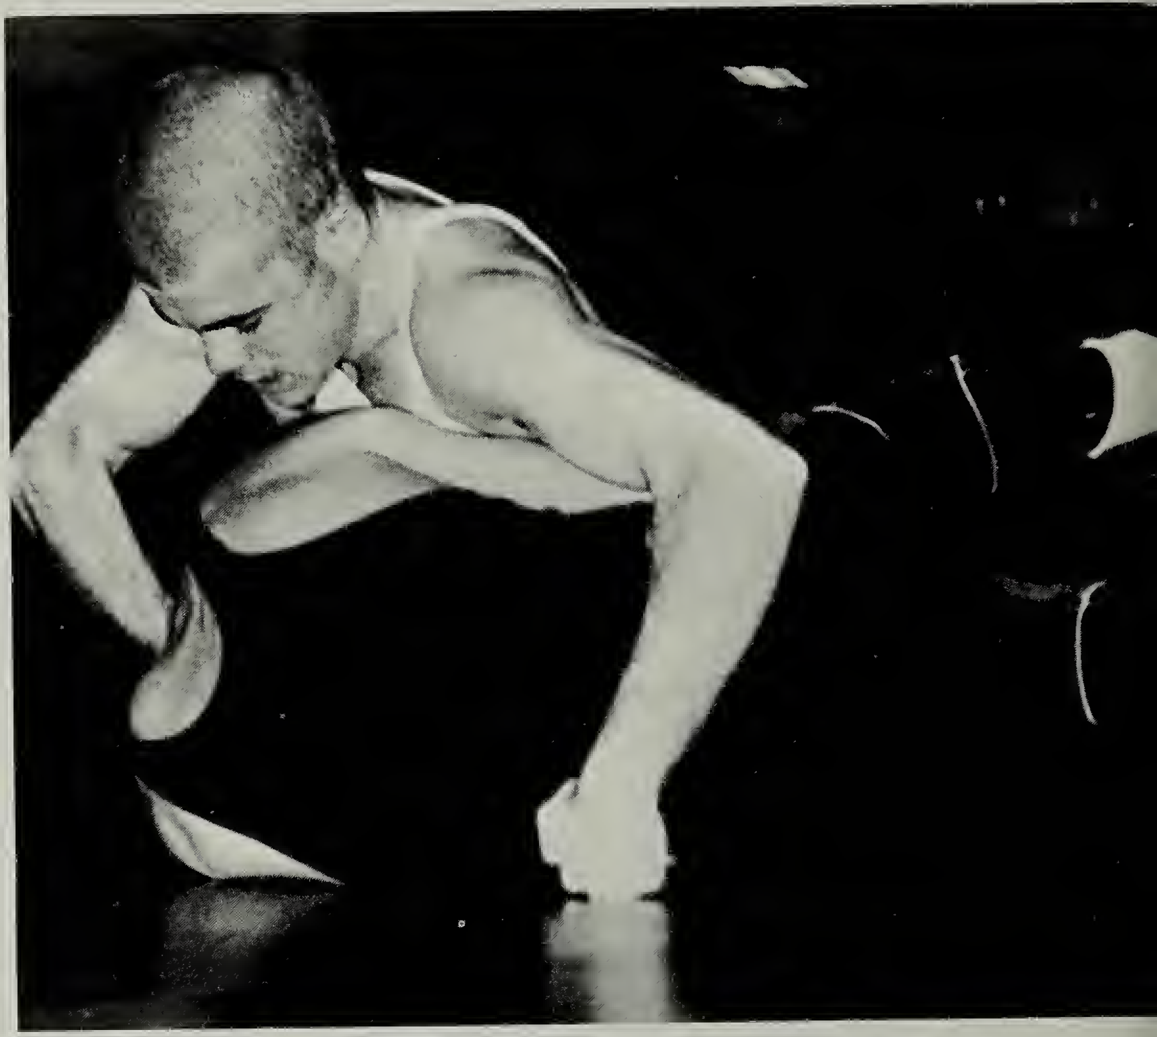
Varsity Wrestling

With a lack of returning lettermen, the Varsity Wrestling team often found it difficult to obtain victory; however, wrestlers Roger Ours, Regis Carr, and Louis Blazy gained commendable recognition in the Northern District and Regional tournaments with Ours (95 lb. class) finishing first in both, Carr (133 lb. class) placing first in district and second in regional, and Blazy (145 lb. class) ranking fourth in regional. Seniors Tim McGinn and Jim Douglass also placed third and fourth respectively, in the Northern District Tournament, with Douglass completing the season with a 5-0 league record.



Regis Carr (133 lb. class) grapples with his Groveton opponent attempting to gain the advantage for a possible pin. Regis finished the season first in Northern District, while placing second in the regional competition.

Initially without a 165 lb. class representative, the Tiger coach moved wrestler Jim Purdham from the 154 lb. class to the 165 lb. class, attempting to throw Woodson's Bill Hildbold off guard and possibly avoid two defeats. His plan backfired, however, when Bill rallied in the final period to defeat Purdham, 2-1.

Woodson wrestler Jim Douglass (127 lb. class) snares his Tiger adversary in order to take the advantage and gain valuable riding time. Jim was undefeated in the regular season league contention, ranking fourth in the Northern District.

Despite the inexperience of this year's team, the season was reasonably successful.

Nancy Parry and Pat Pataky race to advance the ball before the onrushing Raiders are able to intercept it. Inspite of the team's efforts during the game, our girls were defeated 4-0.

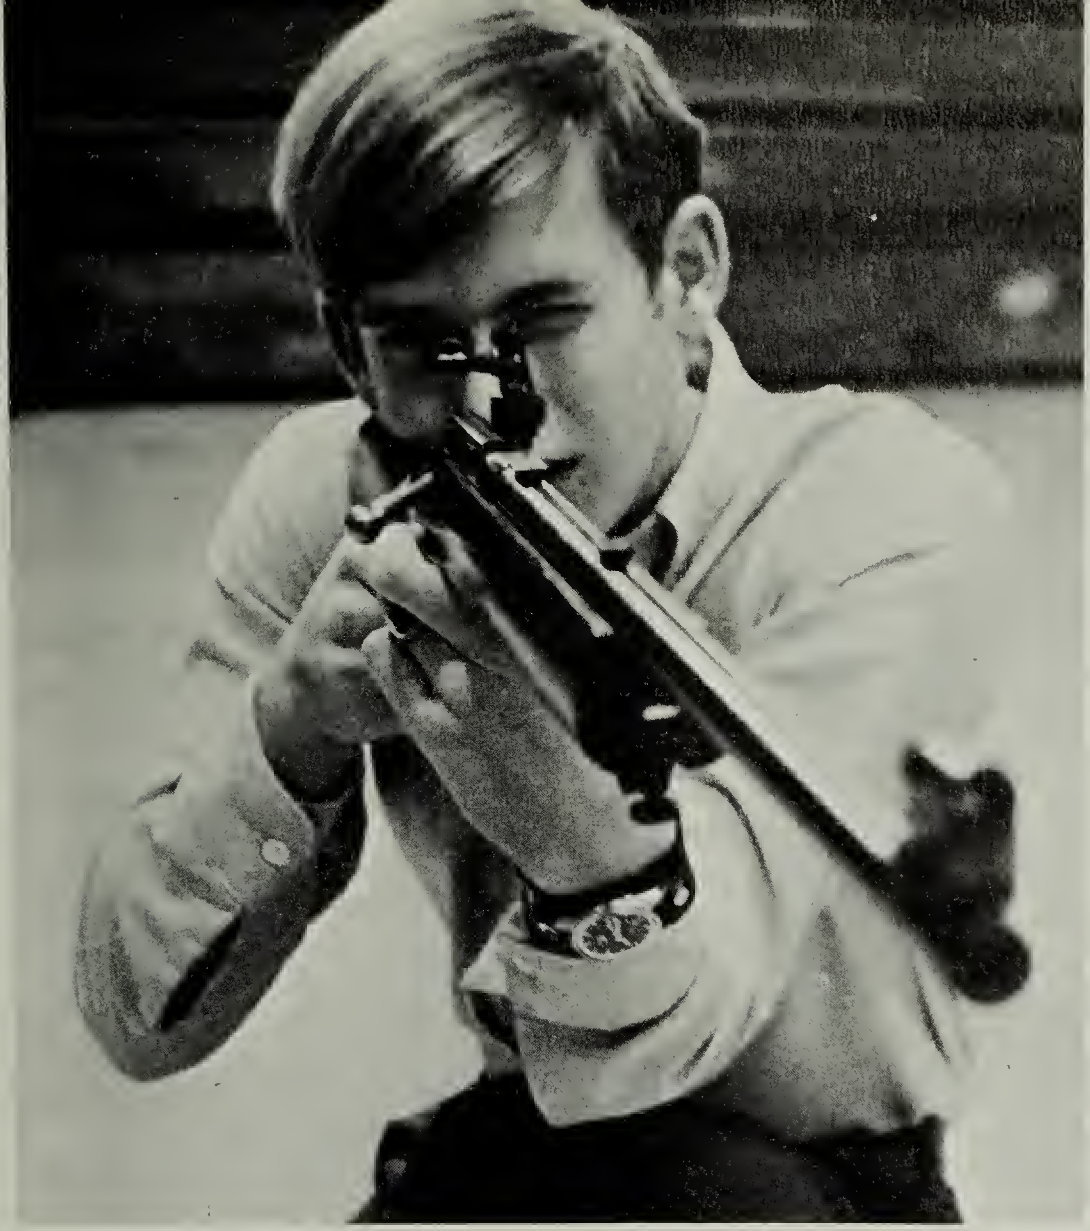
Cross Country

Beginning practice the second day of school, Woodson's Cross Country team built a 4-1 season record, finished sixth in the Northern Regional Tournament, and placed eleventh in state competition. The squad, coached by four year veteran Tom Eakin and led by outstanding runners Larry Montross, Steve Mullans, and Bruce Esco, lost only to Annandale during the regular season with Montross, Mullans, and Esco later finishing eleventh, thirty-ninth, and fifty-second in a field of 200 contenders at the state meet at William & Mary.

Setting the pace for his team-mates, Larry Montross finishes first in this meet against Jefferson as Coach Eakin and manager Keith Humphries record his time. Captain and Outstanding Runner, Larry placed eleventh in state competition at William & Mary.



Varsity Rifle

Although victory often eluded the Varsity Rifle team, the experience obtained by its participants was invaluable. The boys, led by Coach J. R. Wilmouth, were handicapped by a lack of available practice ranges which, of course, did not improve their accuracy. Along with this hinderance, they were also forced to provide their own ammunition and their own transportation to the various matches at Fort Belvoir, W-L, and Fort Meyer.

Co-captain Pete Lutz carefully takes aim as he practices for upcoming match. Pete, along with his fellow co-captain Bill Curran, led the team in scoring; however, the squad, handicapped by a lack of available facilities, had great difficulty in obtaining victory.

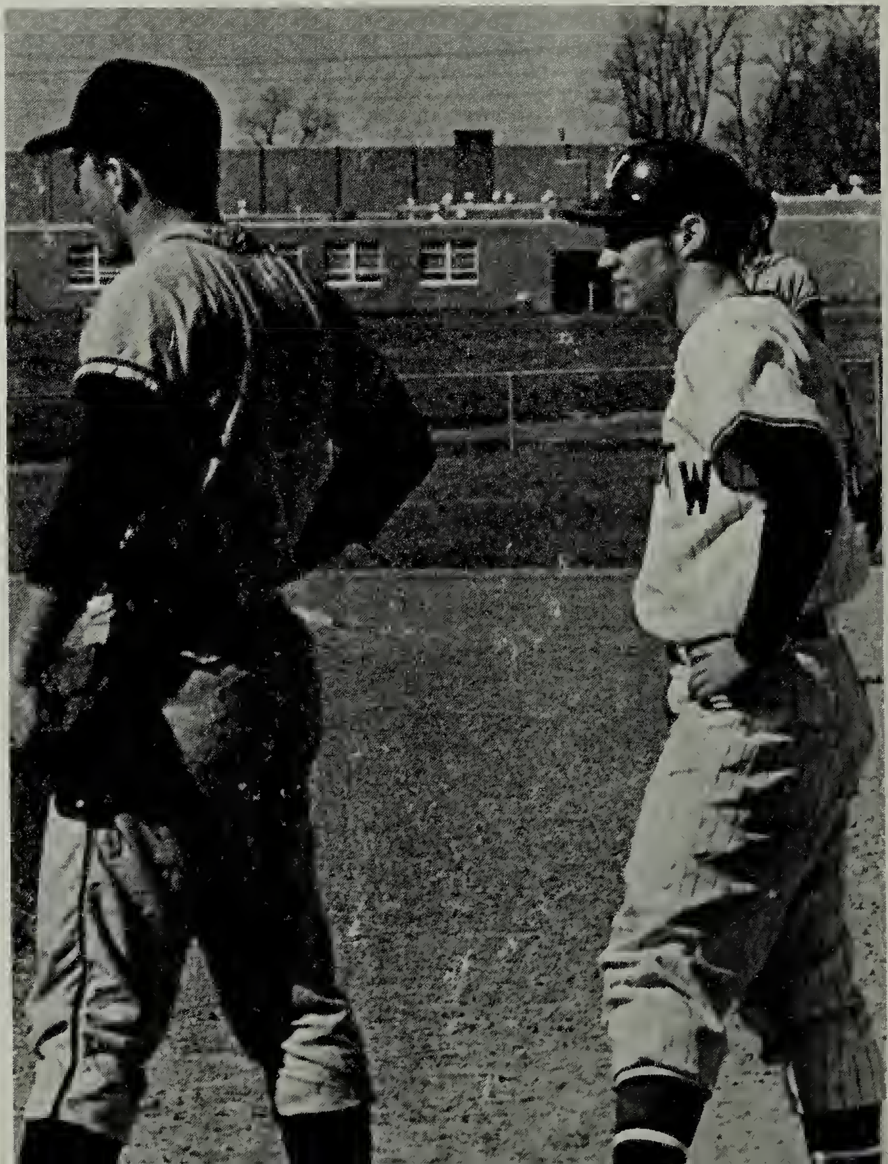
Varsity Baseball

Late in February, the Varsity Baseball team, coached by three year veteran, R. L. Knupp, began practice for what promised to be a winning season. The team was boosted by returning lettermen, Steve Pickering, Bill Nesley, Clark Funk, and T. J. and John Pecorak.

The bull-pen, led by the Pecorak brothers, sparked the defensive unit of the team while the hitting of Clark Funk and Bill Nesley livened the offensive attack. The season was not only successful in the number of victories, but it was also successful in aiding the juniors on the squad by supplying them with needed experience.

Returning letterman John Pecorak hurls a sizzling fast ball past his waiting adversary. John, along with his brother T. J., headed the bull-pen staff which Coach Knupp was heavily dependent upon.

Shortstop Bill Nesley holds close to the bag awaiting the next pitch. Bill, along with first baseman Clark Funk, led the hitting attack while heavily fortifying the infield against opposing batters.



Varsity Track

The Varsity Track team which, each year, has more active participants than any other sport at Woodson, was again heavily dependent upon its sprinters; however, shot-putters Richard Baumgarten and Bill Hildbold, pole-vaulter Pete Hansen, and high-hurdler Jeff McGary sparked the various other competitive categories.

Pole-vaulter Pete Hansen sails over the cross-bar during one of the daily spring workouts. Pete, a three year veteran, has helped Woodson in football as well as track.

Jeff McGrary zips past his straining opponent on his way to winning the 100-meter high-hurdles. Jeff, along with Pete, completed his third year with the team.

Swim Team

The Swim team, behind top swimmers Tom Gissendanner, Bruce Johnson, Bill McDaniels, Nannette Nencioni, and CeAnn Seliga, compiled its fourth consecutive undefeated season with victories over swimmers from Falls Church, Stuart, West Springfield, and Annandale. Outside of the regular competition, the Cavalier aquatics detachment again participated in interstate competition at the University of North Carolina, Georgetown Prep, and the University of South Carolina.

After dropping three of their first four games, the Junior Varsity football team came to life and ran away with their last four games. The Jayvees, led by outstanding player Charley Ing, averaged 15.5 points a game while the defense, behind John Craig, Paul Poucher, and David Redinbaugh yielded an average of only 6.3 points a game, shutting-out Stuart, Oakton, Jefferson, and Fairfax.

Offensive back, David Krauser (24) sweeps wide as he breaks for daylight attempting to foil his charging Stuart opponents. The Raiders failed to contain Krauser, and the rest of the Cavalier offense as the Jayvees won to finish the season with a 5-3 record.

Outstanding player, Charley Ing (11) sets back to throw a long pass during this game against Stuart. Ing led the Jayvees to three touchdowns while the defensive unit repelled all Raider scoring threats to shut-out Stuart, 21-0.

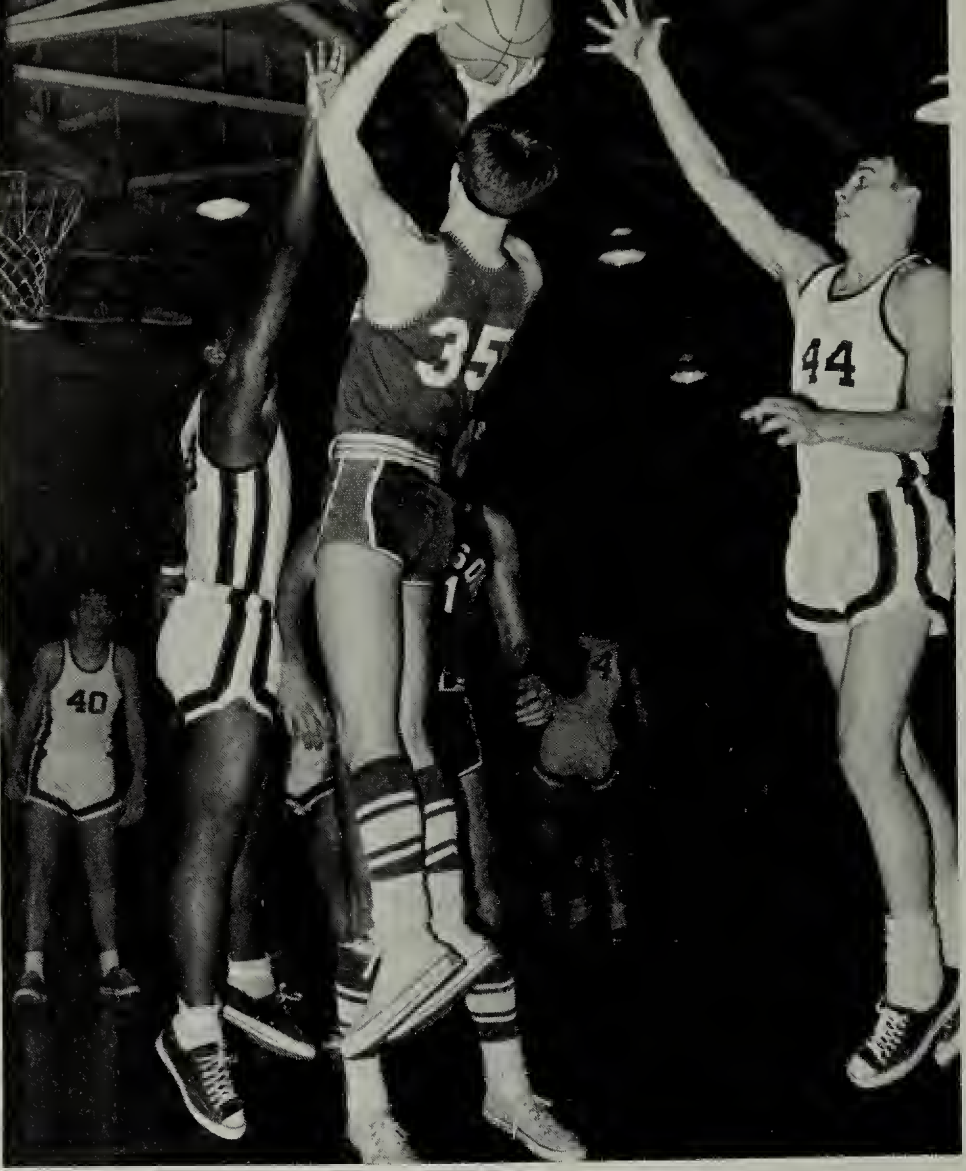
For the year, Richards completed 81 fieldgoals and 71 foul-shots, while Thomas sank 104 fieldgoals as he hit 51 times from the line as the team, inspired and directed by Coach Rembold, totaled 971 points in eighteen games.



During the final game against Stuart, Charlie Ing (35) shoots from the corner while trying to avoid interference from his Raider opponents. The Cavaliers led in the game until the fourth quarter when the Raiders rallied to win, 66-60.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The Freshman team, behind quarterback Jim Cosper, became the first Cavalier football team to compile an undefeated season, yielding an average of 5.1 points a game while gaining an average of 17.3 points a game. The offensive unit was sparked by leading ground gainer Steve Coleman and by leading receivers John Zier and Lon Johnson as well as by quarterback Cosper who holds the record for longest run ever produced from scrimage at Cavalier stadium—a run of 95-yards.

As team-mates Charles Baer (75), Mike McCoy (62), and John Woebse (52) look on, Steve Coleman crashes over the goal line to obtain the only score in the game against Falls Church. The Frosh were the only team to defeat the Jaguars this season, downing them, 7-0.

Attempting to break through the Rebel defense, leading receiver Lon Johnson is caught by two of his Fairfax opponents. The Cavaliers won their fifth of six games as they defeated the Rebels, 14-6.

Recollections of homework assignments and term papers will soon fade away; Old tests and battered notebooks will be discarded. But the friendships that were gained and the memories of the good times that were enjoyed will remain for the rest of our lives. The years spent at Woodson in learning, gaining experience, and living were not wasted. They were preparation for the life ahead, whatever it will be. Happy memories will survive the school year of 1969. Memories of accidents and anecdotes. But most important, the memories of people—some acquaintances to be renewed, others, abruptly terminated. A meeting of glances, a transfer of thoughts, a merging of laughter. WOODSON—A shared adventure.
